Antioch crowns 2003 queens

It's official! Heffernan, Oldroyd, Guntharp are local royalty

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch has crowned its 2003 queens, all three are first-time pageant contestants.

Sinclair Guntharp, 6, daughter of Gregory Jr. and Kristina Guntharp, was crowned Little Miss Antioch.

"The funnest (sic) part was backstage with my friends when I was waiting to go on," she said. "I was happy for my friend, Katlynn (Williams), she was first runner up."

Kyla Oldroyd, 11, daughter of Mark and Tamara Oldroyd, was crowned Junior Miss Antioch. First runner up was Jaimy Tindall, 12, daughter of Jeff and Karen Tindall.

"The best part of the pageant for me was making new friends," said Kyla. "My friend next door run last year and said it was a blast, and that's why I decided to run."

Marie Heffernan, 18, daughter of John and Liz Heffernan was crowned Miss Antioch. First runner up in that category was Brittany Wiegel, 18, daughter of Daniel and Kitty Wiegel.

Marie said, "This was a fun experience. I really liked being backstage getting ready for the next part with my mom helping me."

Marie said the scholarship money was what enticed her to run. She will attend Northwestern, in Evanston, in the fall.

"It's just a train ride away, so I know it won't be a problem to come back here when I need to," she said. "I really don't know what is in store for me as queen."

Marie will receive $1,700 in scholarship money.

Laurie Stahl, director of the parks department, said, "We would also like to thank everyone who helped sponsor this scholarship including Raymond Chevrolet ($500), Antioch Rotary Club ($500), Antioch Junior Women's Club ($250), First National Bank Employee-Owned ($100), State Bank of The Lakes ($100), Lyons & Ryan Ford ($100), the W.D. Blake & Sons ($100) and Rep. JoAnn Osmond ($50)."

Marie said she is looking forward to competing in the Lake County Fair

Antioch's 2003 pageant queens

Little Miss Antioch Sinclair Guntharp, Miss Antioch Marie Heffernan and Junior Miss Antioch Kyla Oldroyd.

Pageant later this summer. "I want to show people that intelligence is really important and that it's not just beauty," she said. Marie graduated first in her class (2003) from Antioch Community High School.

Sinclair said she looks forward to a summer of swimming when she's not performing official duties such as attending the firefighters pancake breakfast that is being held on June 29 at the main Antioch Fire Station.

"I got lots of things, but my prize for winning the pageant was a pool pass to the Antioch pool," said Sinclair. "I also like to go to the beach of Lake Catherine, and my grandma has a pool."

Kyla said she enjoyed the interview process prior to the actual pageant.

"There are three judges and they ask you a lot of questions," she said. "I liked that part of the pageant, too."

When asked why she decided to compete for the title of Junior Miss she said it was because she wanted to represent the Village of Antioch and "help out" as much as she could.

Stahl thanked the 2002 queens for their service to the village. "The Village of Antioch would like to thank Jeni Blake, Melissa Zeman and Reagan Martin for their wonderful representation as our 2002 queens," she said.

Silhan to fill in while village takes deeper look at hiring practices

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Bob Silhan, director of planning, zoning and building for the Village of Antioch, has been selected to act as village administrator until the position is permanently filled.

After a lengthy executive session the board took action to appoint Silhan for the interim.

Village attorney Bob Long said, "He will act as village administrator for about 45 days until the position is advertised and filled."

Trustee Scott Pierce was the only one who voted negatively. "Nothing against Mr. Silhan, but no," he said.

The board took action on a number of other items related to former village administrator Mike Haley's resignation for the post.

Mayor Taso Maravelas was required to vote to remove Haley's name from all of the village's signature cards. Pierce as well as trustees Dorothy Larson and Mary Turner declined to vote on the action requiring the Mayor's vote for a simple majority.

Pierce also declined to vote on action that would allow the village to advertise nationally. The position will pay $65-85,000 to a qualified applicant commensurate with experience.

After the meeting, Pierce was asked the reason for his vote to which he said it was personal.

Trustees Pierce, Larson and Bob Caulfield were named to a committee to review resumes and aid in the selection process. This action received unanimous approval.

Four votes secured a severance package for Haley that will be paid through Sept. 26.

During the course of the meeting, and prior to executive session, the board discussed hiring three public works employees and an additional person for the police

Village gears up for FridayFest

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Though it's a little younger than some of the village's annual festivities, it wouldn't be summer in Antioch without FridayFest. The first of the season takes place on Friday, June 20 behind the stores that line the east side of Main Street at the band shell.

The theme of this festival is "love is in the air." Everyone in attendance at the concert performed by the Lakes Area Community Band will receive a special gift. The concert begins at 7:30 p.m. and will end at about 9 p.m.

"Dave Hoeh from Antioch Floral on Main Street is donating roses," said Billie Horton, special events coordinator.

Prior to the concert, various merchants will offer special promotions throughout the day. Most stores open by 10 a.m. Back on Skidmore, the events officially begin at 3 p.m. with the opening of the farmers' market that will carry fresh fruits and vegetables, baked goods, flowers, plants and herbs as well as jams and jellies.

Sports tournaments add to Fourth of July fun

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch's Fourth of July sports tournaments are anticipated nearly as much as the parade and fireworks.

"Both volleyball and softball are filling up fast," said Karen Kubin, organizer of the events through the First National Bank-Employee Owned that sponsors them. "The basketball three-point shoot out sign up will be taken on the basketball court the day of the event."

As in previous years, the basketball, softball and volleyball tournaments will be held at Williams Park. The softball tournament begins on July 3 to allow for enough games to be played, while the other events take place on July 4 only.

Kubin said, "One of the best things about working for a community bank is being able to organize activities that bring the community together. The Fourth of July sports tournament does that."

A maximum of 20 teams will be accepted for the Crazy Co-Ed softball tournament. The entry fee is $40. Cash prizes will be awarded to the top three teams.

Co-Ed Sand Volleyball will run from 9 a.m. to dusk on July 4. Only the first eight teams will be accepted.

Cash and prizes will be awarded to the top four teams. Participants must be at least 16 years old.

The Basketball Three Point Shoot Out will run from noon-3 p.m. on the Fourth of July. Entry is $5 per person.

There are separate competitions for children and adults. Cash and prizes will be awarded to the top three participants in each age group. Registration for this event is 11 a.m.-noon on July 4.

"The sports tournaments are fun for both the players and the spectators," said Kubin. "It's a great way to get involved with the activities at Williams Park."

Entries and fees can be mailed to the First National Bank-Employee Owned, c/o Firecracker Sports Tournament, P.O. Box 389, Antioch, IL 60002.

For more information, or to pre-register for the basketball shoot out, call Karen Kubin at 847-838-2265.

Eat flapjacks with firefighters

To help defray operating costs

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

There is no doubt that supporting the Antioch Fire Fighters Association is a worthy cause that ultimately helps to keep the community safe. Eating pancakes with friends and family at the ninth annual Pancake Breakfast on June 29, beginning at 7 a.m. at the main fire station located at Orchard and Holbek is an easy way to do it.

Lt. Chris Lienhardt, Antioch Fire Department information officer said the money raised is used to offset the costs of running Antioch's three fire departments.

"In the past, money has been used for things like brush trucks, dive equipment, pagers and radios

'Our churches are also great about mentioning the breakfast with their announcements, and we really appreciate it.'

Chris Lienhardt

way it does. Some pancake breakfasts only draw a couple hundred people. We usually get 1,000."

In addition to residents coming to eat breakfast, Lienhardt said the local merchants are very generous in their donations that are used for raffle prizes. Local philanthropic groups like the Antioch Junior Women's Club and a variety of scouts often help with the event.

He said, "Our churches are also great about mentioning the breakfast with their announcements, and we really appreciate it."

Along with the breakfast there will be a raffle and prizes. Raffle tickets will be sold at the door for $1 each or six for $5.

Tickets for the breakfast will be sold at the door. Adults are $6; children between 6-12 years old are $4 as are seniors. Children under 5 years old eat for free.

CLARIFICATION

Roger Sorensen, former member of the redevelopment commission, wanted to clarify that he was upset that neither side, whether for or against dissolving the community development department and Glenda Sorensen's (no relation) position had been in contact with the commission prior to taking action. Additionally, creating the community development department and its director was a key element of what the redevelopment commission did.

Burn camp to receive 100s of soft toys

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

With the generous assistance of Bob Diemer, Antioch resident and owner of Diemer Plumbing and Excavating, the Antioch Fire Department will be able to bring 100 soft stuffed animals for the young victims attending the annual Burn Camp held at Camp Duncan YMCA in Ingleside on June 25.

"This is a wonderful thing to be able to do," said Chief Dennis Volling of the Antioch Fire Department. "These stuffed animals have been designed to be extra soft so there aren't any harsh seams or buttons that might hurt the children."

Diemer got the stuffed animals through the toy company Ty, Inc. of Oakbrook, the makers of Beanie Babies. These stuffed animals are from one of their other product lines.

"Don Marski from Hannah's Home Accents (in Antioch) made the connection with Ty for me to get them," Diemer said. "It was his suggestion that I try them."

The animals were delivered to Antioch's newly opened third fire station on Grass Lake Road, and from there will be delivered to the camp.

Additionally, local firefighters from Lake County Quadrant 2 made up of firefighters from Antioch, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Lake

DUI

Walter Laukert, 63, of 431 Donin Drive, Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on June 14 at 3:22 p.m. on Main Street in front of the Village Pub.

A police officer saw there was an accident and spoke with Laukert. Laukert told police he had not been in an accident, but the officer had him exit his vehicle and showed him where his bumper was still touching the other car.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on Laukert's breath. Laukert said he could not perform field sobriety tests due to an ankle injury, but did agree to a portable breath test resulting in .135 blood alcohol concentration.

Laukert was arrested for DUI. He took a regular breathalyzer test at the station result in .134 blood alcohol concentration. He was issued additional citations for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and DUI over .08.

Laukert was released on personal recognition pending his July 8 court date.

Warrant arrest

Ryan J. Heineman, 20, of 25245 Saint Olaf, Long Lake, was arrested on warrant on June 12 at 7:50 p.m. after a traffic stop at the intersection of Route 173 and Deep Lake Road.

He was stopped for failing to signal a turn and was paced traveling 50 mph in a posted 40-mph zone. A check of Heineman's identifiers through LEADS/NCIC/SOS came back with information that he was wanted by the Lake County Sheriff's Office on $30,000 bond (10 percent applies) for resisting a peace officer.

Heineman was arrested and issued citations for his improper turn and speeding and was transported to the Lake County Jail as he was unable to provide proper bond.

Suspended driver's license

Gabriel W. Hesse, 20, of W824 Hermanton Drive, Genoa City, Wis., was arrested for driving while suspended on June 14 at 10:15 p.m. on Route 59 just south of Route 173.

There had been a report of reckless driving. Police saw the described vehicle turn without signaling. When asked, Hesse told police his driver's license was suspended.

A check through LEADS/NCIC/SOS came back with information that Hesse's license was suspended in Illinois and revoked in Wisconsin. He was arrested and issued citations for driving with a suspended driver's license, improper lane usage and failure to signal.

Hesse was released on personal recognition pending his July 23 court date.

returned in short order and in good repair.

"Residents of the village should call either the police department or the parks department office if they see anything going on in one of Antioch's parks that shouldn't be," Stahl added. "These are community parks so it benefits everyone to try to keep these things from happening."

The parks department phone number is 847-395-2160. The non-emergency police department phone number is 847-395-8585.

records department to eventually replace Jane Pensala.

The board approved hiring Ryan Parker, Bill Vos and Patrick Corcoran, Jr., for public works and Laurie Jensen for the police records department, but there was some discussion about the protocol.

Though Chief Chuck Fagan said there had been a background checks done on Jensen and that her job performance in the records department of Grant High School was described as "better than excellent," Larson expressed concern as Jensen's resume allegedly said she worked for Maravelas from 1977-1992.

"I have a problem with that," said Larson. "This is a sensitive position where she will have access to all of the village's records."

Trustee Larry Hanson said the hiring didn't have anything to do with where she used to work and that the decision was and should be made on her qualifications.

Trustee Barbara Porch asked both Fagan and Bill Smith, head of public works, if the applicants had been told they were hired already, and prior to the board taking action.

Smith said, "Yes. We interviewed and hired the best (people) for what we needed."

Fagan said he had told Jensen she was hired and quickly added, "But, I untold her." Jensen had given notice but Fagan said she would be able to have a job if the board had voted against hiring her.

After the meeting, Silhan said some of his duties could shift over to George Sakas, senior planner. "He's already been helping out a lot," said Silhan.

FRIDAY FEST

Horton said, "I'm very excited about a lot of things, but one of them is that we have more vendors for the farmers' market this year and we have allowed a couple of crafters as well."

The children's tent and toy exchange will run from 5-7 p.m. Each week, there will be different activities such as story time and free crafts. Additionally, there will be guided tours of the wetlands as well as a bike stunt performance and dance performances.

New this year is the opportunity to win one of three gift baskets valued at over $600.

Entry forms are available at the office of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry at 882 Main St. Each square of the listed participating merchants must be stamped. Forms can be returned to either the chamber office or to one of the merchants.

Winners will be drawn on the last Friday of the month in June, July and August. Winners need not be present, though contest participants must be 18 years old.

"This is going to be a very exciting summer," Horton said.

Proceeds from Freedom run to purchase defibrillators

State Bank of the Lakes is holding its ninth annual Run for Freedom 5K Run/Fun Walk this year on Friday, July 4. The annual event is held primarily for the enjoyment of the community, but each year proceeds are donated to a worthy cause. This year's recipient will be the entire community – in the form of new heart defibrillators.

At least four of the user-friendly Automatic External Defibrillator (AED) units will be purchased with proceeds from the run/walk entry fees. The defibrillators will be dispersed throughout the 5-kilometer course during the event. Afterwards, one will be located in the State Bank of the Lakes' Antioch facility and three units will be given to the Antioch Police Department to be placed in their patrol vehicles.

"We felt strongly about making the AED units more readily available as heart disease is so prevalent in today's society. Whatever we can do to increase a victim's chance of survival is worth doing," said Roger Manderscheid, State Bank of the Lakes' executive vice president and director of the Run for Freedom.

Manderscheid said the donation will be made in memory of Timothy Osmond, who was a good friend and director of the bank, who died in December as a result of heart failure.

The Antioch Run for Freedom offers a challenging course that winds through residential streets, offering two water stations, mile marker displays and course marshals throughout.

Entrants receive a T-shirt, course map and refreshments for their $15 entry fee ($20 day of race). New this year is a family rate of $45 (for immediate family members; not available on race day). Participants are welcome to run or walk the course.

Although the event is USATF-sanctioned, having fun is still the main priority. The race begins and ends at the intersection of Cunningham and Poplar streets (one block west of Route 83/Main Street). Runners start at 8 a.m. and walkers at 8:05 a.m. Awards will be given to the top three male and female overall finishers as well as the top three finishers in 14 age groups. Over 1,200 runners/walkers are expected to participate this year.

Registration for the event is held at State Bank of the Lakes, 440 Lake Street, Antioch until July 3 and before the event on July 4. Participants may also mail their applications in and pick up their race packets the day of the race. Applications are available by calling 847-395-2700 or by logging on to www.thisisyourbank.com.

The run/fun walk is the kick-off to a day full of fun including baseball, basketball, volleyball and horseshoe tournaments, community concerts, a parade, food booths, swimming, historical exhibits, children's games, an apple pie baking contest, bridge and pinochle contests, bingo and much more.

The day will finish off with a fireworks display. Most events will be held at Williams Park, 741 Main St., Antioch. Contact the Independence Day Celebration Committee for more information at 847-395-6342.

Township offers mosquito larvacide packets

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Though Antioch Township doesn't offer an integrated mosquito control program as the Village of Antioch, it is providing some help by selling larvacide packets at a reasonable price to township residents, community organizations and homeowners associations.

"This won't do anything for adult mosquitoes," said Steve Smouse, township supervisor. "But it will take care of larvae and prevent them from becoming biting adults."

Packets that 100 square feet are being sold at the township office for $1. The larvacide is intended to treat areas of standing water and will last for about 30 days.

"This product kills larvae as it hatches," Smouse added. "It's good for basins and low areas that catch and hold water. This is not a spray."

The township office is located just northeast of the intersection of Deep Lake and Grass Lake roads.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Question administration salaries

As I'm reviewing my ever-increasing property tax bill, I'm reminded of two recent Antioch High School board meetings I attended.

The first one was on March 28.

It was the last regular meeting of the outgoing school board. School Supt. Dennis Hockney proposed, and the school board passed a motion to grant William Ahlers, business manager at the high school, an extension of his current contract. The extension would be effective July 1 and continue through June 30, 2007, with a base salary increase to $123,035 for the 2003-04 fiscal year and with annual increases of 10 percent per year for the remaining three fiscal years of his contract.

The yes votes to this motion were Joyce Heneberry, Phil Delany, Aileen Biel, Ed Koziorowski and Kathy Werchek.

The second meeting occurred on May 22.

Once again, Hockney proposed, and the school board passed a motion to give annual salary increases to the following administrators: John Crawford, $114,770, 10.39 percent increase; Phyllis Fay, $87,990, 9.89 percent increase; Steve Schoenfelder, $82,585, 9.89 percent increase; Syd Klocke, $87,990, 9.89 percent increase.

The yes votes to this motion were from Vicki Axton, Joyce Heneberry, Phil Delany, Wayne Sobczak and Aileen Biel.

Since the rate of inflation is around 3 percent, these raises could not be cost of living increases. They also cannot be merit raises. Our school has performed poorly on state and national tests.

Considering the economic times that we live in today and the fact that our school is on the state financial watch list, I find these types of salary increases to be outrageous. While many people in this community are either coping with finding or keeping their jobs, it's apparent to me that if you're an administrator at Antioch Community High School, times have never been better.

Please contact the current school board members who voted for these increases. Ask them for an explanation. I urge you to let them know how you feel about these increases.

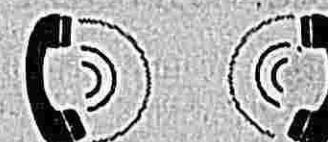

Dave Dziki
Antioch High School board member

Catch the spirit

Participation was up, scores were lower, and a nice chunk of change was raised. Must be the annual John Dolan Golf Challenge held at the Merit Club in Gurnee.

What's interesting about this event is, four able-bodied golfers are paired with one disabled player. The Challenge evolved in 1994 after John Dolan died a couple of years earlier just before he turned three. John had suffered severed spinal cord at birth and was paralyzed from the chin down.

His father, Dan Dolan, started the John Dolan Golf Challenge in memory of his son. It transcends much farther than that, though.

"This is turning into a proud tradition," said Dan Dolan on the event, now in its ninth year. "It's an opportunity to show the abilities and challenges that people with disabilities can overcome. We want to try and raise money for those with disabilities, as to make their lives better. It's also the spirit of the event, which effects everything we do in our lives."

The Dolan Golf Challenge works in conjunction with The Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago, where John was treated before his untimely death. Through the first nine years, the John Dolan Golf Challenge has raised close to a million dollars, which benefits the Bill Wirtz Sports Programs at RIC.

"We have 18 different RIC Wirtz sports program," said Jeff Jones, RIC's director for the Galvin Center for Health and Fitness. "We operate six days a week and have locations in Chicago as well as the suburbs. It's a very community-based program. What's unique about the programs we have is that they are free. And the John Dolan Golf Challenge has been wonderful in helping us raise money to keep things going."

Participants came from all over the country to partake in the event.

Alan Gentry of Louisville is in his fifth year competing in the Dolan Challenge. You'd never know that he lost his right arm in a drilling accident. The guy blasted a tee shot 317 yards on the par-4, 10th hole to win the longest drive.

"I know a lot of guys up in this area that compete in the National Amputee Golf Association and heard great things about this event," said Gentry. "It's a good time, we're playing a great golf course, and most of all, it's for a great cause."

Several local players competed in the event, such as Libertyville's Marty Neal, who was playing in his seventh Dolan Challenge.

"I lost my right arm back in 1979 in an industrial accident," said Neal, who went to RIC for rehabilitation after his arm was amputated. "After I rehabbed, I was out of touch with RIC for awhile but found out through a friend about the Dolan Challenge. It's a great event. It helps increase awareness and makes a lot of people advocates at the same time. I think they've (the Dolan Challenge) has raised close to a million dollars. That's a heck of a number for a golf outing. And of course, it helps keep the spirit of young John Dolan alive."

Another local participant was Wildwood's Mark Sasser, a former employee of the Merit Club who now resides in Arizona, returned to his old stomping grounds to play in the event. In 1998, Mark suffered an ingrown toenail that caused a lack of blood flow and abnormal bone growth that ultimately led to the amputation of his right leg below the knee.

Ram youth baseball camp hits a grand slam

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Everyone likes the feeling of power.

Eighty or so youth baseball players between the ages of 7-14 that attended the Grayslake Youth Baseball Camp last week got the chance to demonstrate plenty of it.

"I should just have a home run derby camp," joked Troy Whalen, the camp's chief instructor and head coach of the high school's varsity baseball team. "We just happened to have a home run derby at the end of each session. The kids loved it."

Eleven-year-old Grant Deal was a big fan of not only the home run derby, but the entire camp as well.

"It's not every day you get to hit one over the fence—it's a great feeling," said Deal on the home run derby. Deal plays for the Mets in the Grayslake Youth Baseball Association. "But I also really liked the scrimmages we had. It's a chance to play for fun and not worry about points or standings."

Kyle Allen, a 12-year-old who plays for the GYB Rangers' team, said the camp helped him work out a better swing when batting.

"I just want to hit the ball as far as I can," said Allen, right after ripping a line-drive off the tee.

Whalen said the camp featured instruction on hitting, fielding, pitching, and plenty of intrasquad games.

"It was very successful," said Whalen, who took over as the Rams varsity coach this spring. "There's a great tradition of baseball here. And it starts with Grayslake Youth Baseball Association. We thank them for their outstanding support."

Whalen said most of the kids came from the Grayslake area. There were a few from Lake Villa and Lake Zurich as well whom attended the week-long camp.

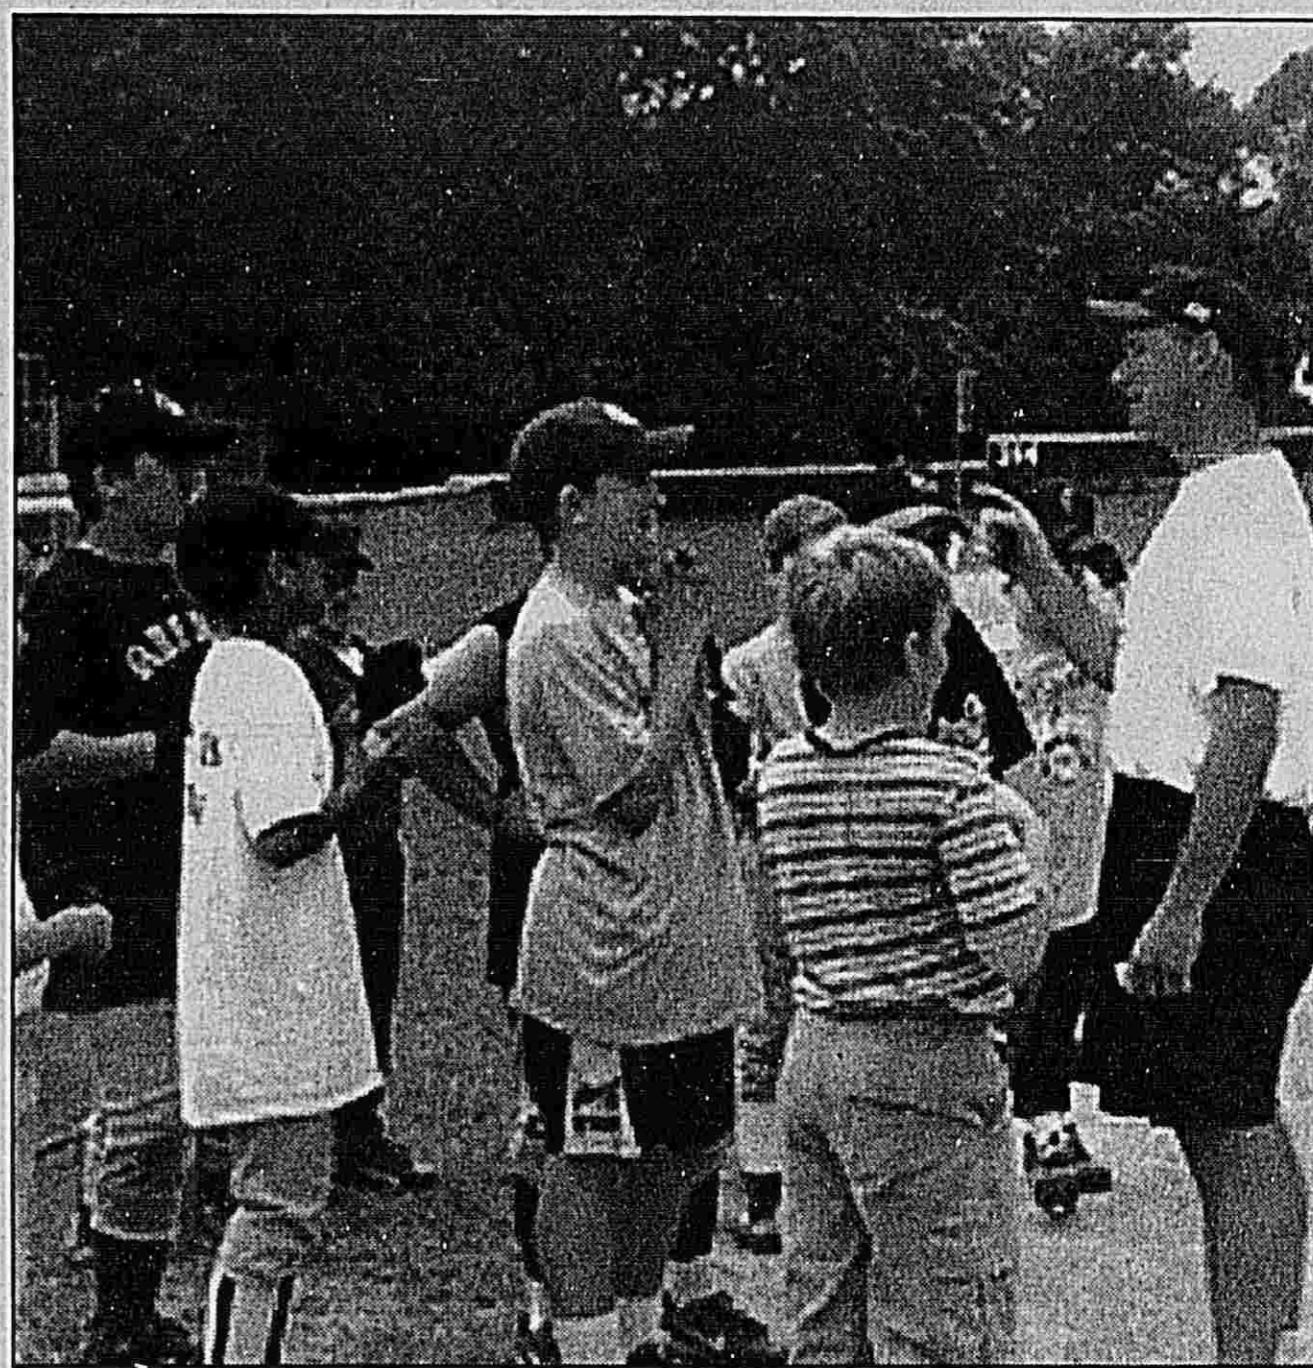

Another GYB player, 11-year-old Stephen Owen, wanted to improve his hitting.

"They showed me how to keep my hands tight and generate more bat speed," said Owen, who plays for the GYB Rangers.

Campers used a tee for most of their hitting instruction.

"It helps you stay level and keep your hands still," said Whalen. "I think it's the best way to learn how to hit."

plays for the GYB Tigers, liked the hitting part of the camp, but needed fine-tuning on his pitching.

"They showed me in the wind-up, instead of short-arming, get your whole arm through the motion," he said. "Balance is also important."

As part of the 'perks' for attending the camp, each camper received a T-shirt and certificate. The kids were also treated to a fine meal during each day of the camp. Tastee Freeze in Grayslake also gave campers gift certificates. Pat's Pizza in Grayslake provided the meal on the camp's final day.

"We just wanted to make it fun and try and something fun for them every day," said Whalen.

Sounds like you succeeded.

Sequoit summer baseball: get back to the basics

By MIKE KRIZMAN
Lakeland Correspondent

It may be summer time, but class is still in session for the Antioch baseball team.

With another young group expected for the 2004 season, head coach Paul Petty is using the coming months teaching a lesson in Baseball 101. Getting back to the basics of the game will be his main area of focus.

"It's going to be back to basic baseball this summer," Petty said. "Last season was a basic baseball nightmare."

After finishing the 2002 season with a regional title under their belt, the Sequoits fell on hard times in 2003. The team finished a disappointing 9-21, losing to Round Lake in the first round of their regional tournament.

Petty said that there were only five seniors on the team last year, causing a youth movement in a program that has seen considerable success over the years. Petty brought up sophomores Nate Hughes and Mike Fuchs to play catcher and second base respectively. Sophomores Kevin Proeck and Jeff Weber also saw action on the varsity level.

"The sophomores we brought up showed a lot of improvement as the season went on," Petty said. "But as a team, we still have a lot of work to do. Personnel wise, we were lacking last season."

Petty expects to have only a handful of seniors next season, causing the youth movement to continue. With such a young team, Petty will use the summer to provide instruction.

"The summer league is definitely instructional. The focus really isn't on winning but providing instruction," Petty said. "This is a time to try and place kids in the right spot and to look at the newcomers. We'll be running guys all over the place."

Petty is hoping for some added practice time this summer as well.

"You don't see every baseball situation in a game," Petty said. "We can create certain situations in practice for the guys."

The summer league team began their season Tuesday night, losing to Crystal Lake South 7-4. Antioch faces Zion on Friday and will play five games next week.

Devil tennis camps in full swing

By ROB BACKUS
Lakeland Correspondent

With the season just concluded, Warren tennis is now starting its annual summer programs.

The Blue Devil Tennis Camp, which runs through June 26, is open to all students in Warren Township that are in grades 4-12.

Warren is also running its annual tournament camp through July 29.

Again, the camp is open only to Warren Township students and will participate in United States Tennis Association tournaments throughout the Midwest.

"The tournament camp is like practice," Warren varsity coach and camp director Greg Cohen said. "It's intense because we work on everything. They get a lot of chances to play so it's an opportunity for the kids to improve."

In addition to Cohen, there are several other coaches and former players involved in the camp, including Warren coaches Vince DeSecki, Bob Brothman and Michael Edler, former Warren players Josh Balderson, Kyle Offerdahl, Mark Nelson and Brian Schmidt and Antioch coach Carolyn Stanley.

"I'm very proud of the staff we have working at the camps," Cohen said.

Both camps are being held at the Almond Road Campus. For more information, contact Cohen at 599-4334.

Warren will also play host to the Warren Junior Open from June 30-July 2.

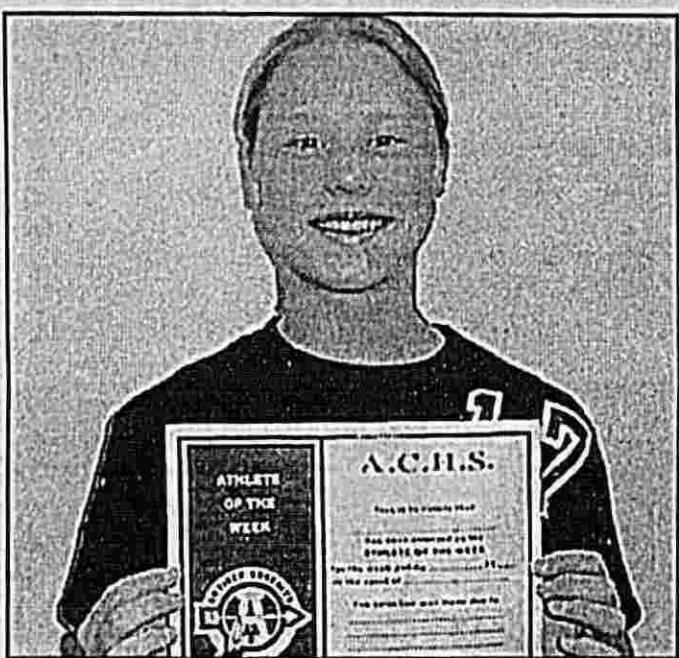

The tournament is open to anyone 18-and-under and includes several divisions, including boys' 18- and-under singles and doubles, boys' 15- and-under singles and doubles, boys' 12- and-under singles, girls' 18- and under doubles and girls' 15- and-under singles.

"The Open is designed to give kids a chance to play in a local tournament over the summer without joining the USTA," Cohen said. "It's also a great beginners tournament for younger kids."

The cost of the Warren Junior Open is $10 per singles entry and $4 per player per doubles entry.

Entry forms are available at WTHS Almond Road Campus.

Antioch High School Athlete of the week

Beth Fries Girl's soccer

In four games, Beth had 11 steals and 21 interceptions. Her outstanding play at sweeper this season has anchored a strong defense. Beth's performances near the end of the season helped limit the scoring opportunities of perennial powers Stevenson and Carmel to just one goal.

Pieces falling into place for Keith Ryan Sports Banquet

Keith Ryan would be proud.

Since his untimely death in 1989, the College of Lake County Foundation has sponsored the annual Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund and Sports Banquet. The banquet helps raise funds for a $1000 scholarship to be awarded to an aspiring journalism student that is attending CLC.

The banquet also recognizes anywhere from 7-10 inductees into the Lake County Sports Hall of Fame, as well as a host of members into the Waukegan Lions Club Hall of Fame.

This year, the banquet will be again held at Midlane Golf Resort in Wadsworth. The Class of 2003 includes seven former standout athletes from schools in Lake County. They include former Carmel football great Jeff Zgonina, who was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1993. Zgonina then played seven years as noseguard for the St. Louis Rams, who won the Super Bowl in 2000. Zgonina just recently signed with the Miami Dolphins. Current Stevenson High School head baseball coach Bob Mackey will also be inducted into the County Sports Hall of Fame. Mackey ranks 11th on the Illinois High School Association's all-time list for career coaching victories on the diamond.

Former Warren High standout baseball player Derek Shelton is yet another deserving county athlete on the ballot this year. Shelton was a four-year, all-conference player for the Devils. He is presently the hitting director for one of the New York Yankees minor league teams. Former Waukegan Bulldog Larry TenPas is also on the list. TenPas is a former standout wrestler and currently involved with the Waukegan City Council. Former Grant Community High School athlete Stephanie Romic will also be inducted. Romic is a former three-sport athlete, competing in volleyball, basketball and softball. On the hardwood, she ranks in the top-10 for points scored in a career with over 1,500.

Former Wauconda High all-area basketball player Dennis Freund is also on the list of inductees. Freund was best known for his performance on the basketball court. The former all-area player also has a decorated resume in officiating, mostly with the Big Ten, Big Eight and Conference USA.

Speaking of officials, Antioch's Lee Mieure is being inducted for his work in officiating, mostly on the high school level.

As for the Lions Club Hall of Fame, current Waukegan Mayor Richard Hyde will be inducted this fall. Hyde was a long-time coach in wrestling, football and baseball for the Central Suburban League school. He also served as athletic director at Waukegan.

The banquet will take place on Thurs., Oct. 16. Reception starts at 6 p.m., followed by dinner and presentations.

The guest speaker this year will be Connie Payton, who will speak on family values. Connie is the president of the Walter and Connie Payton Foundation, which, of course, is named after her late husband Walter who died almost three years ago.

"We're very excited to have Connie as our guest speaker," said Bill Devore, director of the CLC Foundation. "We had been trying to get her (as a guest speaker) for two years. She's a very moving speaker. Her messages are very powerful."

Connie Payton

Devore said the CLC Foundation will make a donation to the Walter and Connie Payton foundation.

Former guest speakers have included former baseball great and Libertyville native Brett Butler, Chicago sports anchor Mark Giangreco, and for Chicago Bears coach Mike Ditka.

Larry Leon honored

Speaking of honors, Keith Ryan Committee member and current College of Lake County men's golf coach Larry Leon qualified for the American International Group, Inc. (AIG) American General Agency Building Group's annual convention, which will be held this month at the Hyatt Regency Maui Resort and Spa in Maui, Hawaii. Larry, a financial services professional in Libertyville, earned the honor for meeting strict production requirements over the past calendar year. In qualifying for the convention, Larry has been recognized as one of American General's most successful associates in 2002.—John Phelps

Youth hoops teams excelling

The Lake County Legends seventh-grade boy's travel basketball team went 3-2 in the Sixth Annual Milwaukee Metro Classic held at Carroll College in Waukesha, Wis.

In the opening game, the Legends defeated the Racine Williams & McCarthy team 51-37. Kevin Guirand led the way with 13 points, three rebounds and two assists. John Van Hoorn added to the balanced scoring attack by netting 10 points as well. He also collected a steal to go along with four rebounds.

In game 2, the Legends showed a true team effort with all players contributing to the 54-35 win over the Deerfield Rising Stars Blue team. Andy Goggin netted seven, while Brandon Bushing and James Androuss each chipped in with four points. Brian Fuller and Mike Kedzorski added three.

In the third and fourth game of the tournament, the Legends demonstrated good effort but came up short in a 48-35 loss to the Wisconsin Shooters. That was preceded by a 61-35 loss to the Highland Park Road Warriors.

The Legends would rebound, though, rallying for a 43-33 victory over the Knights in the tournament finale. Mike Shields poured in 15 points to go with five steals and two boards. Guirand complemented him with 12 points, three steals and five boards and John Van Hoorn demonstrated his defensive skills with six rebounds and three blocked shots. Van Hoorn also scored three points.

The Lake County Raptor seventh-grade boy's basketball team posted a 1-4 record in the Memorial Curtis Hawkin's Tournament in Libertyville. The Raptors fell to the Chicago Cardinals in the opening game, 59-18. Kegan McDaniel scored seven points and grabbed 11 rebounds while Travis Horan chipped in with five points and three boards. Cory Garcia added four points and five rebounds and Mike McGowan had two points and two rebounds. Good efforts were also turned in by Luke Patke, Marcus Williams and Zac Hood.

Then, in game 2, the Raptors fell to the Mayfair Knights. McDaniel led the way with 12 points, five rebounds to go along with a steal and a block. Horan chipped in seven points to go with one rebound and two steals.

In a 38-28 loss to TABA, Garcia lit it up with 17 points and seven boards. Jason Warneke added five points, five rebounds, two assists and two steals and Taylor Erbach added four points, nine boards, one assist and one block.

The Raptors only win in the event was a 49-33 victory over the Road Warriors. McDaniel sparked the Raptors with 13 points, eight boards, a steal and three blocks, and Garcia added 11 points, one board and three steals. Erbach was solid with nine points, nine rebounds, one steal and one block and Williams added eight points to go with five boards and a steal. In the finale, the Raptors fell to the Road Warriors 48-33. McDaniel scored 14 points, grabbed nine boards and had one steal and Horan added seven points, three boards and two steals. Kevin Mason, Garcia, Erbach, Warneke and Williams also turned in solid efforts.

For their efforts, McDaniel was named Team Offensive Player of the tournament while Williams earned the Team Defensive Player for the tournament.

Service dogs increase the independence of people with disabilities

By SONJA SCHMIDT
Staff Reporter

Picture this. You are at a grocery store and the person ahead of you is about to close the transaction when all of a sudden, a dog places his paws on the counter and gives the sales clerk the credit card. No, it is not your imagination but rather a service dog helping a person with a disability.

Canine Companions for Independence (CCI) is a non-profit organization that enhances the lives of people by providing trained assistance dogs to partner up with them.

Founded in 1975, CCI discovered trained dogs could increase the independence of their human partners. To this date almost 2,000 service dogs have been placed with eligible candidates nationwide.

CCI looks for people with physical or developmental disabilities who can show that a companion will enhance their independence or their quality of life.

Dogs prepare for one of four types of assistance teams, service, skilled, facility and hearing.

The service team dogs serve individuals aged 18-years and older who have a physical disability. The dog will perform physical tasks such as pulling a wheelchair and picking up fallen items.

Skilled companion team dogs provide assistance with physical tasks and provide affection and love to a child or adult with physical, developmental, or emotional disabilities and their primary caretaker.

Facility team dogs help adults who work as rehabilitation professionals, caregivers or educators who use the dog to help spread love and physical help.

Last but not least, the hearing team dogs provide security and safety to an adult who is hearing impaired. The canine will alert them to sounds such as doorbells, smoke alarms and alarm clocks.

The training for a service dog is intense and begins at the early age of eight weeks old.

Puppy raisers are people who are willing to donate time, care, training and money to the group by raising retrievers or Labradors. The volunteer raises the puppy from 8 weeks to 18 months old. In that time the puppy raiser has the responsibility to provide house training, to teach obedience, to attend puppy training classes, and supply food, shelter, discipline, veterinary care and of course lots of love and attention.

"The dog goes with me everywhere because I have to show him socialization in the grocery store, barber or where ever else," said Jane Barber, a puppy raiser in Libertyville. "Over the course of time I have the puppy it costs about $1,500 between equipment like gentle leaders, training and vet bills."

Barber has been a puppy raiser for seven years and loves volunteering for the cause. Her husband gave her a CCI calendar for Christmas one year and Barber thought volunteering for CCI was her calling.

"I thought it was a good way for me to give something back," she said. "I am a dog nut."

When the puppies reach 18 months they are returned to the training center for advanced training sessions. If they pass they will graduate with an individual and carry out their assigned duties.

"Only six out of 10 dogs graduate," Barber said. "It is hard when you raise the puppy and you come to find out they will not graduate."

The advanced training takes place at a facility in Ohio; therefore the dogs need to fly back and forth frequently.

Midwest Airlines has donated their aircraft to transport the canines to their destination for free for more than six years.

"This is the only company we ship for free with," said Dee Schnitger, customer service representative in cargo center at Midwest Airlines. "We are offering the service to get these people trained dogs free because some people can't afford the flight."

Amy Campos, Chicago satellite office coordinator for CCI, uses a wheelchair and has a service companion to help her with odds and ends.

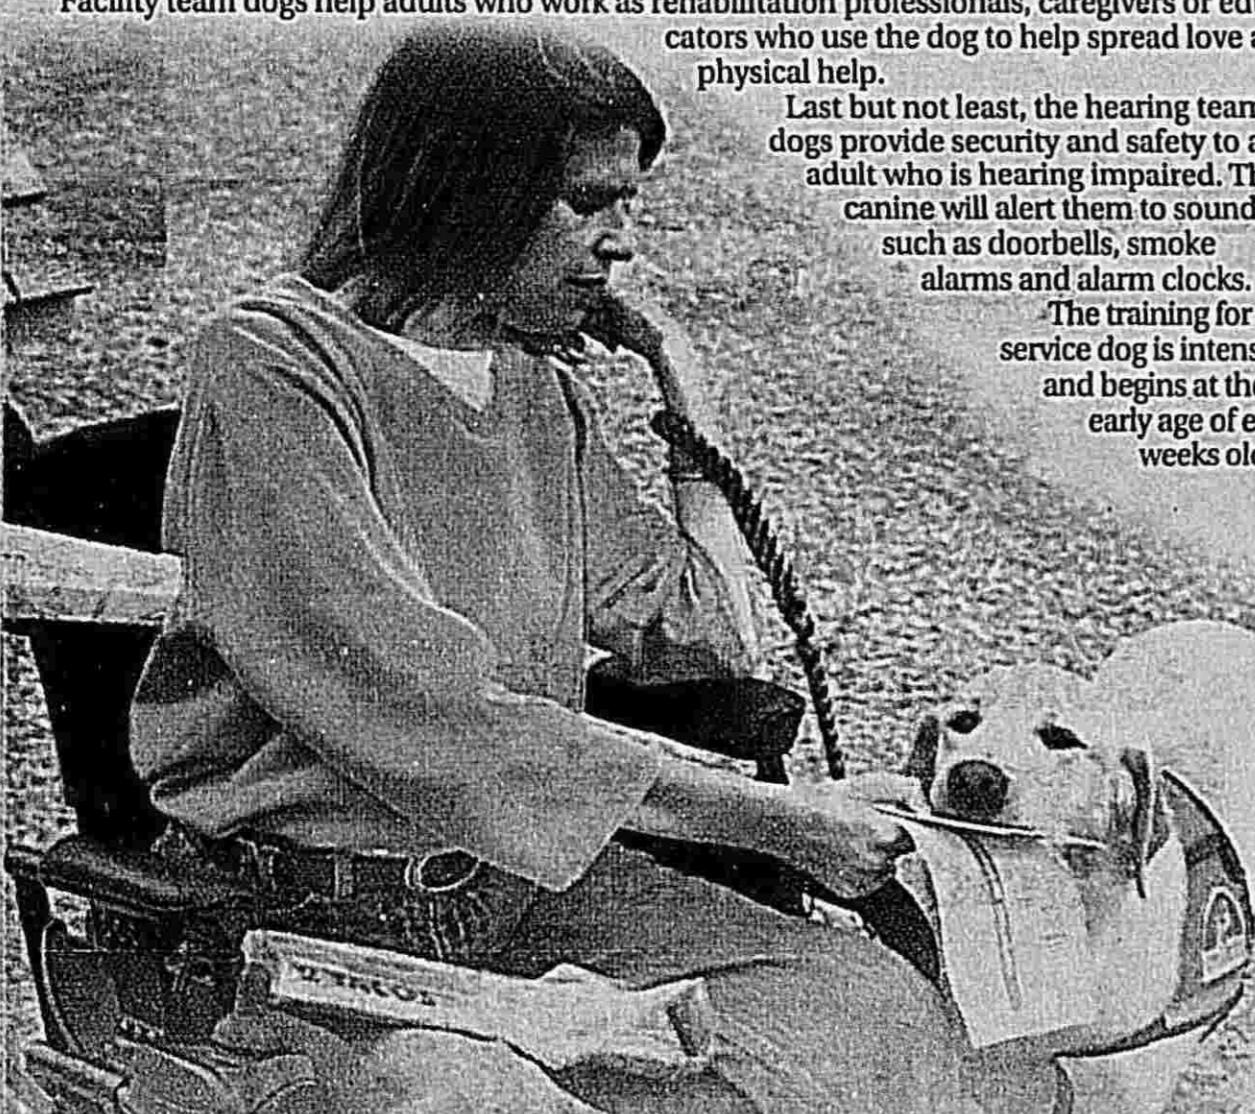

"I use her for retrieval, mostly kid toys, the remote control, keys and anything I drop around the house," said Campos, a Libertyville resident and another two toddlers.

This is Campos's second service dog. The average service life of each dog is eight years. The dog then retires and lives the rest of its life as a pet.

"It is hard to say goodbye because you are with them 24-7 and they become more than family, your best friend," Campos said. "Although I would never give up the opportunity of the time I spend with one dog."

Each dog is trained the same but once matched with one person the dog specifically learns what is most important to the person they are helping.

New 'Cornbread Book' warms to its subject

The Cornbread Book: A Love Story with Recipes (William Morrow, 2003) is Missouri native Jeremy Jackson's paean to one of his favorite foods and an American classic.

In the slim 132-page volume Jackson not only provides a variety of cornmeal/corn flour recipes, but he also shares a "pithy and perfunctory" history of the staple. Recipes run the gamut: peppery cornbread to velvety spoonbread to hominy-leek monkey bread. There's even three recipes for yeast breads made from flour that he milled from popped popcorn — popcorn white loaf, popcorn pita and popcorn focaccia.

COOKING by the BOOK
Tom Witom

Summer Kitchen Pound Cake makes for an enjoyable dessert. We made it with cornmeal lemon and poppyseeds (see variation note). It goes well with sliced, sweetened strawberries.

Summer Kitchen Pound Cake

1 cup (2 sticks) unsalted butter, softened
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 large eggs
1/2 cup plain yogurt (or any flavor) (or water) (milk would work, too, or sour cream)
1 tsp. pure vanilla extract

Preheat your oven to 325 degrees F. Butter and flour a 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Cream the butter and sugar in a large bowl, beat in the eggs individually. In a separate bowl, combine the yogurt and vanilla. In another bowl, sift the flour, corn flour, baking powder and salt.

Add about a quarter of the yogurt mixture to the butter-egg mixture and stir until incorporated. Then add about a quarter of the flour mixture to the butter-egg mixture and stir it in. Repeat these steps until all the ingredients are combined and the batter is smooth. Pour the batter into the prepared loaf pan. Sprinkle the loaf with poppyseeds, if desired.

Bake for 60 to 80 minutes, until a knife inserted in the middle comes out

1 1/2 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
1/2 cup corn flour
1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
Poppyseeds for sprinkling, optional clean. Watch the cake carefully near the end of the baking, lest its sides and bottom burn. Let the cake cool in the pan before serving.

Variation note: This cake is the perfect companion for fresh fruit. You can ice it with a thin glaze, but it's perfect when unadorned. Follow the directions for Summer Kitchen Pound Cake, but only use one stick of butter. Substitute cornmeal for the corn flour, and in place of the vanilla use the juice and zest of one lemon. Bake the cake in a 9 x 9-inch pan lined with parchment paper on the bottom and buttered on the sides. Bake the cake for 45 to 55 minutes, until golden and firm. (We incorporated about 3 tablespoons of poppyseeds into the dough itself.)

Master magic at Young Magicians Workshop

The Lake Villa District Library would like to invite young people, ages 10-16, to participate in our Young Magicians Workshop Series this summer. The first five of the sessions would be actual workshops during which the students will learn feats of prestidigitation and sleight of hand. Students will have a week between each workshop during which they may practice and master the tricks learned in the class. The sixth session of this program would be a performance during which each of the students will have the opportunity to perform as a stage magician in a public performance at the library.

The Young Magicians Workshops will be taught by Chicago Magician, Chris Ivanovich. Ivanovich is a member of the prestigious Magic Castle Academy in Hollywood. His references include Brian "Mortini" Morton of Philadelphia and Penn and Teller among others. Ivanovich is a favorite among the performers at the Lake Villa District Library. He has also been seen locally at the Bristol Renaissance Faire and numerous sights around Chicago. For more information about Ivanovich, please visit his web site at www.blacklagoon.org.

The workshops will be on Monday afternoons at 1 p.m. and last for an hour each. The workshops will be held on June 30, July 14, 21 and 28. The Final Performance will be July 28 at 7 p.m. in the LVDL Meeting Room.

Participation in the workshop series will be limited to 30 students ages 10-16. Participants are expected to attend each of the five workshops as well as the final performance. In the event that more than 30 participants wish to register for the workshop series, spaces will be allotted on a lottery basis. A minimum of 20 students must register for the program. Participants will be asked to pay a $35 non-refundable fee to participate in the program. That fee will be due

For more information or to register for the Young Magicians Workshops, please visit the Youth Services Desk at the Lake Villa District Library.

Baseball hits it big in the minors

Poor Dad always seems to strike out on his birthday. He'd like to commemorate each passing year with a family trip to see the Cubbies. The trouble is he can't get the "home team" to cooperate.

First of all, his brood refuses to take this spectator sport sitting down—we all have the attention span of hungry piranha.

I, for one, see nothing wrong with multi-tasking my way through three hours of a mystery I'll never solve. Thanks to my aversion to numbers, I can only imagine which one of those incomprehensible "sports stats" is the killer:

"Baffled at the Ballpark"

Once again, our brilliant sleuth, Willneeda Clue, had stumbled onto a murder scene! Power hitter, Red-faced Ralph, with a slugging percentage of .210, quickly dropped his bat.

Turning quickly, Willneeda caught a dark figure slipping from view, just in time to steal second base. The dying victim pointed accusingly at this suspect then whispered a mysterious code into our heroine's ear, "SB5!"

But what was she to make of the chap casually sauntering from home base?

He'd left a strange calling card, "BB33", scrawled in the sand.

Willneeda knew something foul was in the air, but she didn't have enough sense to duck.

Now, can you blame me for bringing my own mysteries to read? And PLEASE don't spill your beer on my cross-stitch!

Meanwhile, our youngsters have their entertainment: a warped version of Monkey in the Middle with Birthday Boy as their star player.

This little amusement consists of my husband repeatedly running kids back and forth from the restroom, then refreshing their parched little throats in between trips. Our pathetic camel suffered the last straw when he was caught on the BIG SCREEN trying to catch a fly ball with a soggy soda in one hand, and a screaming sister in the other.

LES ON LIFE

Leslie Glazier-Werner

But never underestimate the resourcefulness of a true baseball fan. This year Dad still wanted to celebrate his magic day with the family AND America's national pastime; only, for a change, he wanted to enjoy it. His solution—the Kane County Cougars in Geneva, Illinois.

Big league baseball, especially in Chicago, can be more an adult pleasure to be savored, like slow sips of a fine wine. Today's media-frenzied kids (and number-challenged moms) may want to develop a taste for the majors by enjoying a game for and about minors.

Even if it meant missing an historic reunion between the Yankees and the Cubs, our family man made a sacrifice bunt that turned into a big win.

We felt right at home from the moment we entered the front gate of the Cougar's Philip B. Elfstrom Stadium. After all, it could have been Sunday morning in our family room.

Cartoon sound effects boom over the sound system with every play. And any lull in the action is absolutely VERBOTEN! Then bring on the sponsored audience participation. I particularly liked the human bowling ball. Nothing like a willingness to commit the rest of your life to chiropractic for a lunch-meal coupon.

Yes, it was a perfect afternoon at the ballpark. Dad got excited. At the bottom of the ninth, with bases loaded and a tie score, the Cougars drove in a winning hit. The kids got excited. A hyperactive bird by the name of BirdZerk played mascot to all their most rebellious desires. And while Mom got excited, she didn't drop a stitch.

SERVICE DOGS

Another great aspect of having a service dog is that it makes people who use wheelchairs less scary, so to speak, to the public.

Nelly retrieves a piece of paper for handler Amy Campos in her Libertyville home office. Campos is the Chicago satellite office coordinator for Canine Companions for Independence, which provides dogs nationally for people with disabilities. — Photo by Sandy Bressner

"It changes your life for the better because once you give someone a service dog it breaks down the social barrier and it brings people toward a person in a wheelchair," Campos said.

Campos said service dogs are trained to turn light switches on and off, retrieve cordless phones, finish transactions while in a store, carry products to the car, retrieve beverages from the refrigerator and even take tapes out of the VCR.

"Some dogs even know items by name once you label something, they can decipher," she said.

It is not all work and no play for these furry friends.

"We play all the time and in play I still incorporate commands to follow," Campos said. "If you don't use it, you lose it."

CCI works today because of volunteers and donations. The service is funded by gifts from businesses, civic groups, service clubs, grants and fundraising activities. CCI receives no government funding.

CCI always has openings for volunteers in all levels of involvement. A volunteer can participate in special events, dog walking, puppy raising, office work and various other activities. About four dozen people volunteer in Lake County and 3,000 volunteers nationwide.

Currently, there is a three-year waiting list for people in need of service dogs nationally.

"It is cost versus demand," Campos said. "People say 'let's breed more puppies', but we need money for the kennels, training, veterinarian bills, food and many more things."

The service dogs come on a first come, first serve basis and the dogs are not for sale.

"It would not be fair to buy a dog to help you because you have money, when someone else can't," Campos said. "The graduate pays a $100 registration fee, but there is no charge for the dog."

Campos is also in charge of fundraising in the Midwest and educating the public on service dogs and people with disabilities.

"Fundraising takes a lot of time but is rewarding in the end," Campos said. "Our group also goes to schools, libraries, businesses and many other places to educate people and show what the dogs can do."

Mary Sandford, a volunteer at CCI for 10 years, spends her time helping Campos set up demonstrations or just being there for back up.

"Whether we are stuffing envelopes, getting businesses to donate for raffles or setting up silent auctions, we are Amy's hands when she needs them," Sandford, a Mundelein resident, said.

CCI will never turn down help. If you would like more information on how you can help, call Amy Campos at 847-816-7360.

Whale Rider," a story steeped in folklore, great beauty and spirituality, begins with birth and ends with a rebirth. Both events involve the engaging and charismatic girl child, Paikea. Pai's mother and twin brother die in childbirth. That's the problem, as her grandfather Koro (Rawiri Paratene) sees it. First, the name Paikea is reserved for the first-born son, due to carry on the traditions of the Whangara people. Folklore tells of Paikea, 1,000 years ago, riding the back of a whale to settle on this East Coast of New Zealand.

Pai's father, Porourangi (Cliff Curtis), is devastated by his wife and son's deaths, and is reminded of the rejection he still feels as a first born son who turned his back on tradition by becoming an artist. He takes off, leaving Pai with her grandparents, Koro and Nanny (Vicky Haughton, in a flinty and wise portrayal).

Eleven years pass and Koro is attached to his granddaughter Pai, portrayed with wisdom by first time actress Keisha Castle-Hughes. But his love for her is not enough to allow Koro to lay aside his conviction that a girl can not be included, as he sets up a school for training the boys of the village in the ways of the Maori ancestors.

We know that Pai will eventually convince her grandfather that she is the one who hears the call of the Spirit of Paikea. The journey to that realization is captured exquisitely in the faces and performances of the cast, and the photography of the light, the sky, the rock formations and the sea surrounding Whangara.

Koro comes to believe fully in an expression he uses with Pai, "we are strong, all together with all our strength." This is an inspiring, must see film.

INTERVIEW WITH JACKY COMFORTY WRITER & DIRECTOR OF "THE OPTIMISTS"

At a time when it sometimes seems that more things in the world are going wrong than right, it's refreshing to see a film that so fully depicts the characteristic of friendship, which can flourish in the most difficult of circumstances.

In the 1940's, at the height of the Holocaust, non-Jewish Bulgarians protested in the streets and urged their politicians to not deport the Jewish population of approximately 50,000. Jacky Comforty's documentary film The Optimists tells why it occurred, and why their efforts were successful, with interviews and extensive never-seen-before film footage and photographs. The captivating film is the result of more than 12 years of research.

The meaning of humanism

The Optimists

Rating
Not Rated

Director
Niki Caro

Starring
The People of Bulgaria

Political and military oppression has a way of hiding stories on topics that we think have been told so many times that there is nothing new to say. "The Optimists," as the name so aptly implies, is a celebration of the human spirit. It is a story not only about the 50,000 Jews who were slated for extermination and ultimately saved but also of the Bulgarian (non Jewish) citizens and politicians who stood in the face of Nazism to prevent what was certain deportation and death of their friends.

Hitler came to power in 1933 and soon after, books were being burned. Later, radios were taken so that it would be difficult for Jews to know what was going on in the "outside" world. Prior films on the Holocaust document the step by step process to the "final solution"—death camps. This film poises us on the "slippery slope," where you wake up one day and realize that your worse fears have not so suddenly become a reality.

Jacky and Lisa Comforth, residents of Evanston, have worked on the film for over 12 years. They have collected 155 hours of interviews, over 5,000 photos of pre-war and wartime Bulgaria, many hours of archival footage as well as documents, artifacts and sound recordings. Jacky found more than 2,000 photos from his deceased grandmother, stored away in plastic bags and shoe boxes; and the archival rolling and still film of the era gives the film a unique personal touch.

As Hitler conquered Poland and France, and other regions, Bulgaria became their ally, in part because they were Germany's main trading partner.

We know about citizens who hid Jews but what is striking about this story is that because of a history of integration of Jews in Bulgaria, the non-Jewish Bulgarians did things such as participated in spontaneous marches of protest in numbers exceeding 10,000. They also urged their politicians to confront the installed Nazi leaders, which resulted in the delay of planned deportations and exterminations long enough for the war to come to an end.

Playing exclusively at the Highland Park Theater. See the accompanying article, on the director Jacky Comforth on page LL8.

Lake Geneva offers a weekend to experience art from beginning to end

In a twist to the summertime art fair scene, Lake Geneva has planned a unique weekend of art appreciation. Wisconsin and Illinois artists will paint and create artwork while sitting beneath market umbrellas on the streets of the famed vacation getaway.

Taking place June 28-29 along Broad and Main street in downtown Lake Geneva, the fourth annual Lake Geneva Paint-In highlights more than 20 fine artists demonstrating the art of watercolor, oil, pastels and mixed media. The Paint-In offers visitors and art aficionados the chance to see how fine art is created on a blank canvas. It allows for a dialogue between the artist and visitor while the actual piece of art is in-process.

"The Paint-In is a wonderful opportunity to see firsthand how a piece of art is created and, at the same time, discovering the thought process of a given artist," said event chair Diane Syverson. "Visitors can ask questions of the artists during the various stages of their work and discuss the techniques the artist utilizes to bring to fruition his or her vision. Of coarse, artwork will be for sale and most likely many of the pieces on the street will be snapped up quickly."

The Lake Geneva area is located just 90 minutes from O'Hare International Airport and 45 minutes from General Mitchell International Airport in Milwaukee. For a complete listing of events and area accommodations, contact the Lake Geneva Area Convention & Visitors Bureau at 1-800-345-1020 or visit its web site at www.lakegenewavi.com.

Theatre department gets ready for summer musical

The College of Lake County theatre department presents the hilarious musical, A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, in July with 7:30 p.m. performances July 19, 25 and 26, and a 2 p.m. matinee on July 20. All performances will be in the Studio theatre of the Performing Arts Center.

The musical is by Burt Shevelove and Larry Gelbart, and music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim. Based on the farcical comedies of Plautus, "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum" is a hilarious romp through ancient Rome. As men pursue women and servants outsmart masters, songs like "Comedy Tonight," "Everybody Ought to Have a Maid," and "Lovely" promise an evening of merriment.

The CLC production is directed by theatre instructor Eibhlín Glennon. Tickets are $12 for CLC students, alumni members and seniors 65 and over and $14 for the general public. Call 847-543-2300 for tickets.

Construction changes drive debate

Gurnee—Illinois Department of Transportation officials proposed changes to the Route 21/Washington Street construction project after nearby business owners voiced complaints that roadwork has sent sales plummeting.

IDOT officials are considering extending a raised median south of Saratoga Square on Route 21 so drivers can make U-turns in a protected left turn lane. That lane would authorize drivers to make U-turns only when they have an arrow directing them.

Pioneering school leader dies

Pistakee Highlands—Johnsburg School Unit District 12 felt a big loss after John Heidler lost his battle with cancer June 16 as he died at his Pistakee Highlands home. He was 66. He served as president of the District 12 Board of Education for 20 years.

"He got involved when Johnsburg decided to go to a unit district. He did not want the first graduating class to be affected," Joanne Heidler said.

Heidler's many achievements included the start of the Johnsburg Educational Partnership Foundation (JEFP) which provides assistance to needy students and was a Johnsburg school board member for 28 years.

Parents stick up for fired bus driver

Fox Lake—Big Hollow School District 38 parents are sticking up for a bus driver, who was fired after 10 years of service.

Jennifer Barrett-Zitkus said the dispute started when the bus driver brought up a matter of discipline at a school discipline committee meeting. Her employer, Jones School Bus Company, quickly terminated the bus driver. No comment was forthcoming after Zitkus made her talk to school board members. Ron Pazanin, school superintendent, said that it was only a matter for the school bus company.

Solution to high prescription prices may lay over the border

By MARC JENKINS
Managing Editor

Many prescription drugs are now available for as much as just 10 percent of the cost of major pharmacies.

Sound too good to be true? It isn't, according to State Senator Chris Lauzen (R-Aurora) and Illinois Health Alliance president Michael Bock, who were in Lake County this week to tout the new program offering deep discounts on commonly prescribed drugs.

While the U.S. Congress works on a $400 billion Medicare package, which includes revamping of prescription drug price structures, Lauzen and Bock are working together on a package, which costs far less to implement—at virtually no cost.

U.S. drug makers export and sell to Canadian pharmacies at heavily discounted rates. So why not re-import the medicines back to the Seniors enjoy special day

By BRIAN JANOSCH
Lakeland Correspondent

The Lakewood Forest Preserve, and all of the Senior Day 2003 sponsors promised great music, plenty of food, bingo, horseshoes, classic cars and so much more. The only thing that they could not promise was great weather, but on this day, even that cooperated to make it a truly amazing experience for upwards of 4,000 senior citizens from Lake County and beyond.

"It was a little warm, but I am certainly not complaining. At least it didn't rain at all," said first-timer Gene Rudd of Gurnee.

The day of activities was scheduled to kick off at 9 a.m., but many seniors got a head start by taking some rounds at the booths just as they opened. The booth-goers were able to do everything from spinning wheels for free gifts, to getting their blood pressure taken.

"It is just our way to recognize these seniors for all of their contributions. They can all get information from businesses or simply meet up with friends year after year," said Senior Day Coordinator Mary Longshore.

The seniors were able to spend a great day completely cost free. Activities such as horseshoes, bingo, a carshow, and dancing were all there for the seniors to enjoy.

"It is really the volunteers, townships, the commissioners and all of the sponsors that make this all happen. Without them, none of the great things about this day would be possible," Longshore said.

Despite all that was offered, many seniors chose to take a different approach by simply sitting back and relaxing. The music from the John Burnett Swing Orchestra and the Banjo Buddies Dixieland Band

Women to take stand against sex abuse

By CHRISTY BLANDFORD
Lakeland Correspondent

Every 45 seconds a woman is raped in the U.S., according to LaCASA statistics, but the Gurnee organization is hosting seminar to decrease such statistics.

LaCASA, the Lake County Center Against Sexual Assault, is holding a "Women Helping Women" seminar on June 30 to increase education about, and prevention of, sexual assault and abuse. The event is scheduled from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the LaCASA Zacharias Center, 4275 Grand Ave., Gurnee.

Madigan

The event is a fund-raiser for LaCASA, which provides education about sexual violence and counseling services for survivors of sexual assault and abuse. The seminar is expected to be an annual program.

David Diaz, fund development assistant at LaCASA, said the event is only open to women because most women tend to feel more comfortable discussing issues of sexual assault and abuse without men present.

"At this point, unfortunately, we find it creates a more comfortable setting (with women only)," he said. "It's a solidarity event with women. We are a feminist-based organization and the majority of the people we serve, unfortunately, are children, but they're also women."

"We look at the facility here as a healing facility," Diaz said. "It's not just a center for people to come and deal with sexual abuse issues, but also to heal."

Barbara Richardson, former Lake County coroner, is scheduled to address the crowd about the psychological and physiological effects of sexual violence at noon.

Illinois Attorney General Lisa Madigan will be on hand to discuss LaCASA's role in providing sexual assault education as well.

Event co-chairs Leslie Kischer and Nan Streicker said Richardson and Madigan convey powerful messages.

"In changing to lectures by influential women like Richardson and Madigan, we hope to inspire women to take action for a cause that impacts their lives," Kischer said. "This new approach builds on the importance of female solidarity and women looking out for each other."

Attendance to the seminar costs $75 per person and tables of 10 can be reserved for $750, Diaz said. All proceeds fund the center's counseling and educational services, including workshops, support groups and specialized therapy. The center is non-profit and is run solely through donations.

Nearly 150 women are expected to attend the event, but Diaz said those who would like to attend but have not reserved their spot can contact him at 244-1187 ext. 21.

Some explaining needed on vote

A curious pattern was recorded among Lake County representatives in the Illinois House voting on Senate Bill 1586 that requires public bodies to keep verbatim records of closed meetings. The legislation, which eventually passed both House and Senate overwhelmingly and went to the governor for signature, changes the Illinois Open Meetings law by requiring that public officials keep an audio or video record of closed meetings. It also keeps the record from being available for public inspection or copying, or being subject to discovery in any administrative proceeding other than one brought to enforce the Open Meeting Act.

The legislation had broad bi-partisan support and was regarded a "good government" bill because it strengthened the public's right to know about how government operates. The bill, supported by Lakeland Newspapers and media across the state, more than adequately protects the right of officials to confidentiality and protected exemptions when meeting behind closed doors legally. Judges may examine the record only in their chambers when a civil or criminal action is filed. Public bodies may destroy the audio or video recording after 18 months.

The verbatim record required is to prevent abuses, which are known to happen all too frequently. Many public bodies, including a share in our area, regularly wink at how the Open Meeting Act is implemented, with impunity, by the way, from legal counsel.

Only two Lake County state representatives saw fit to vote for the limit on secrecy—Mark Beaubien (R-Barrington) and Ed Sullivan (R-Mundelein). Two Democrats, Karen May of Highland Park and Kathy Ryg of Vernon Hills voted no. Curiously, May is a professional communicator, operating a press release business besides being in politics.

The odd aspect as to how Lake County members in the House voted was that four tallied "present" (no vote)—Bob Churchill (R-Hainesville), Sid Mathias (R-Buffalo Grove), JoAnn Osmond (R-Antioch) and Eddie Washington (D-Waukegan). Maybe they ought to explain why they refused to take a stand. Is a little secrecy OK?

Lake County's Senate delegation voted three to one on the verbatim record bill. In favor were William Peterson (R-Kildeer), Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) and Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest). Adeline Geor-Karis (R-Zion) voted no.

Getting the verbatim record bill passed took 10 years, really a shameful comment on how legislators regard how government in Illinois should operate. Thanks to the lawmakers who supported Senate Bill 1586. To the no voters and those who voted "present," an explanation is in order.

Farmers markets winning shoppers

Before the popular farmers markets that are returning now for another summer run, there were dozens of roadside stands in this locality. Some of them were locally famous like Ethel's Farm Stand on Rte. 12, Lake Zurich, and the Titus Family Farm Stand on Rte. 83 between Grayslake and Mundelein.

When there was produce to sell, the farm stands were open seven days per week beginning mid-summer and running until fall when the last of the pumpkins and squash were sold.

Farmers markets, a once-a-week suburban phenomenon, have flourished while farm land disappears in Lake County. Around here there is stiff competition to secure vendors, most of whom come from out of town (even nearby states) to sell fresh produce and other wares.

Libertyville has had a successful mid-week farmers market for a number of years. Lincolnshire, getting a late start, has been scurrying to round up a sufficient number of willing vendors to make a credible showing. Grayslake had a political situation on its hands for several years, as downtown merchants objected to the farmers market being relocated to a nearby shopping mall. Now there's a truce with the farmers market being relocated to a downtown intersection.

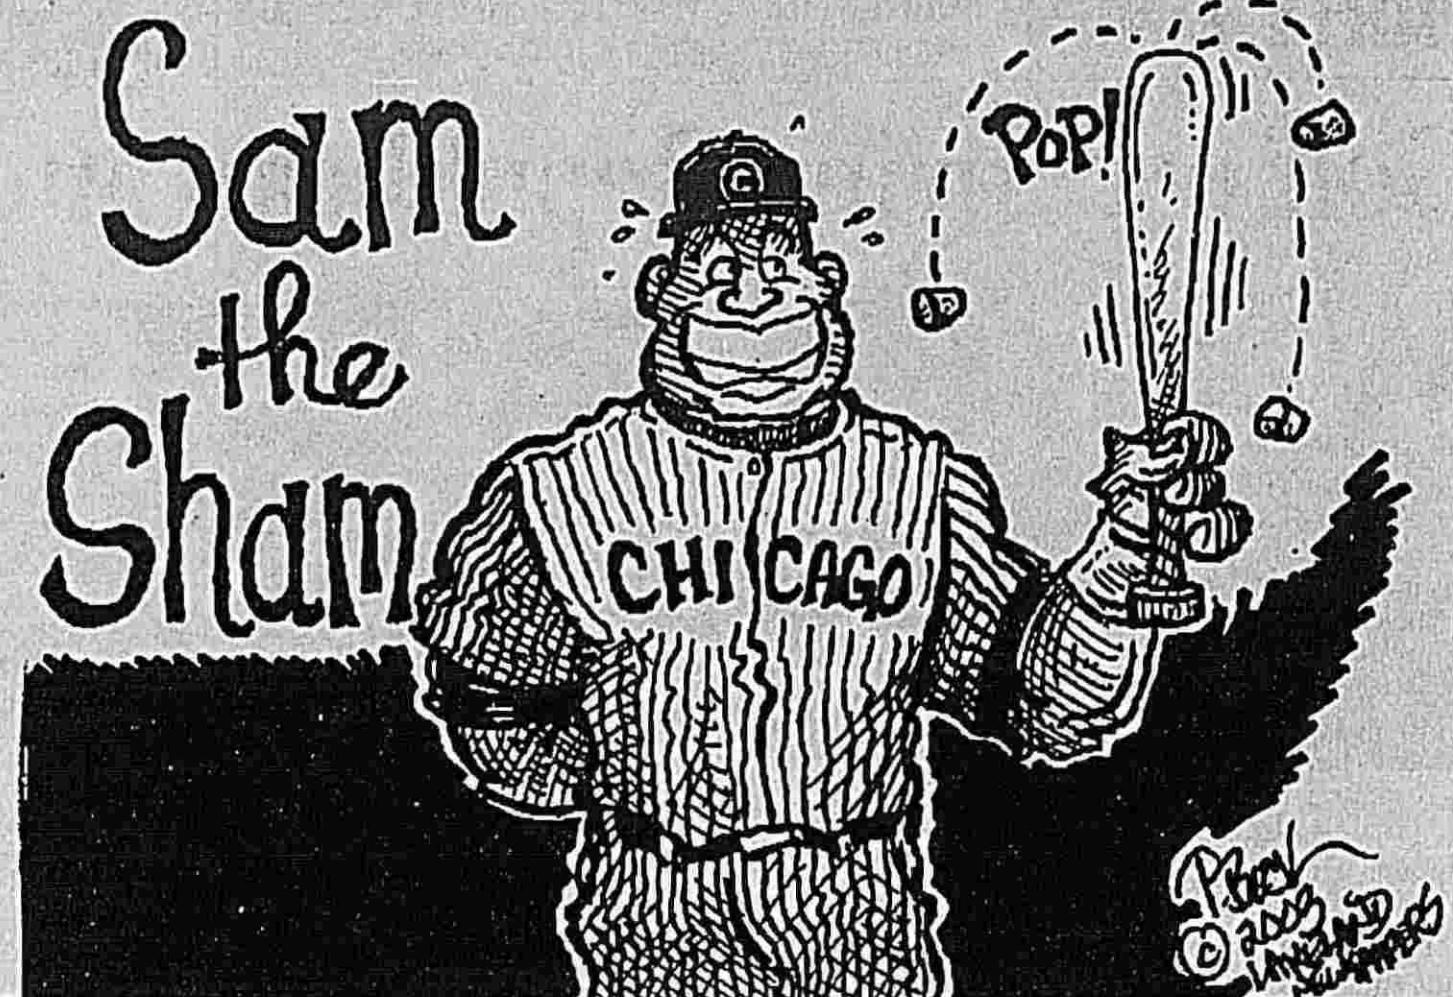

The weekly visit to the farmers market has become a ritual for stay-at-home moms who relish garden-fresh goods and the growing array of selections that mark a modern farmers market. No farmers market is worth its salt without a flower stand. Today you're apt to find colorful layouts of jams, jellies and collectibles to doll up the house.

Decorative candles and bakery goods have become staples. One suburban community is having a council battle over whether or not it is legal to sell fresh meat at the farmers market.

Vendors are earning good money making the rounds of suburban farmers markets. We admire the entrepreneurial spirit of the Michigan blueberry grower who trucks in fresh produce to make four or five stops in the Lakeland area in one swoop. We're guessing those "farmers" spend more time on the highway and overnighting in motels than they do their berry patches. After a few years, the visiting vendors strike up fast friendships with regular shoppers.

Outdoor market fans don't seem to be bothered by the fact that a good many vendors are sharp merchants who never get near a tractor or a cultivator. But they sure know how to please the ladies. And that's what is important!

VIEWPOINT

Looking at past to find future

Julian Muskat spends a good deal of time studying the past to find ways to improve the future. That perspective often puts the skilled automotive technician at odds with conventional thinking.

Take Waukegan's lakefront dilemma. Developers are coming up with all sorts of schemes to transform the once thriving industrial sector that provided Lake County's job center into a Disneyland on Lake Michigan. Expensive condos. Gambling casino. Baseball park. Boating mecca. Glitz boutique. Fancy restaurants. You name it.

"Why not capitalize on the commercial heritage?" asks Muskat, who has far-reaching interests dominated by politics, baseball and big band jazz, especially Stan Kenton recordings. "Waukegan built the best outboard motors in the world. Factories turned out all sorts of wonderful products for America. There were jobs that could support families and provide purchasing power for retail goods and services."

Fully aware that his views are at odds with militant environmentalists, Muskat continued unabashed. "Our forefathers were on to something. They realized Waukegan's vitality and future were tied directly to water. There was shipping. Coal boats. Cement barges. There was a large commercial fishing fleet. The future is commercial. Look at history."

One of Julian's more intriguing ideas is replicating the New York Polo Grounds on the lakefront to capitalize on the interest in Waukegan for a minor league baseball franchise as part of revitalization efforts. "I'm not talking about duplicating the Polo Grounds, just adapting the 'foot print.' Think of those short foul lines. There'd be a ton of Chinese home runs (that's baseball parlance, folks, pre-political correctness), but there'd be plenty of talk about baseball in Waukegan."

BILL SCHROEDER

Turning to Julian's other passion, politics, the Waukegan futurist sees a need for greater political balance between the two major parties. That would foster progress, in Muskat's opinion. He's no idle theorist. Muskat is a veteran Republican precinct committeeman, which means he's mostly on the outside looking in. Julian makes a point, though. "Waukegan has benefited when Republicans switched parties. Look it up," he interjected, naming names. Interesting theory. That's why Muskat continues to work for Susan Tenzi, a local businesswoman, who would like to represent Waukegan in the Illinois General Assembly as a Republican.

Muskat is convinced that history is the roadmap for history. As Julian says, "Look it up."

SUVs moving targets

Personal observations: Is it my imagination or do lady cops take special delight in stopping attractive women driving SUV's?....The FCC ought to tackle some really important business and ban commercials with phony kid voices....It's hard to believe how easy it is for major league pitchers who can't throw strikes to find jobs as relievers. Relievers of what? Winning?....Part of the immigration problem is Americans who refuse jobs that pay what they're worth....If the Peotone Airport plan is dead, can Route 53 be far behind?....Bet that Glenbrook North junior girls will think twice next year when they're seniors about staging the annual hazing bash....Lake County Seniors Day looks like so much fun. I'm going to think about going when I 'qualify'....If our town isn't the green thumb capitol of the mid-west, who's ahead of us? Gardeners are even cultivating apartment balconies....Highway repairmen never seem to get it right. They always do their work in summer, the time of greatest inconvenience to motorists and the season that hurts local business most.

Woe for taxpayers

State Sen. Chris Lauzen (R-Aurora), on a media tour to talk about his senior citizen prescription drug plan, brought disquieting news that the Illinois Tax Cap Law is under assault. This is the law, enacted during the Gov. Jim Edgar regime, that has kept real estate taxes from rocketing into the stratosphere. Folks you know are leading the assault: members of the board of education, library district, park trustees, and in some cases, village trustees. A respected conservative, Lauzen knows state finances and tax laws as well as anyone in state government. He was a certified public accountant before entering politics 11 years ago.

COMMENTARY

Public career 'gift' from citizens

By Barbara Richardson
Retired Coroner, Lake County

My first intention when I announced my retirement was to write a "thank you" to everyone with whom I have had the privilege to work, to serve, to know and to everyone who has responded with cards, e-mails, phone calls and hugs as well as everyone who has given so freely to me over the past 26 years.

No, I am not necessarily talking about "gifts" wrapped in special paper and tied with fancy bows, albeit there have been lots of those over the years as well. It is the "gifts" of knowledge, time, friendship, cooperation, respect, concern and expertise that have made a significant impact on my life in the Office of the Coroner of Lake County; gifts that I now want to wrap in special paper of gratitude and tie with the bow of admiration and give back to the original givers.

It became quite clear to me that there is absolutely NO way I can write individual letters—as much as I want to do that in my heart of hearts. NO way, because of the emotional roller coaster my head and heart has been riding since I bit the bullet and actually resigned.

You know, I never thought it would be this hard to do. Never.

So, please consider this my public personal letter of appreciation to: my staff, beginning with Jim Wipper who has stood long and tall beside me for 19 years; the members of every law enforcement, fire and rescue department; the leaders and members of every board, task force and committee upon which I have been privileged to serve (you know who you are); the staffs at the hospitals and long-term care facilities, including Hospice; the elected officials who have been by my side to support and sustain me; the gov-

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Golf occupying Republican attention

While Democrats are organizing for the 2004 spring primary and November general election, Republicans will be spending more time on the golf course than in the precincts.

The GOP Central Committee golf outing Thursday, June 26, at Wadsworth's Midlane Country Club is a must for party faithful. Following quickly will be the Lake Villa Township Republican Club golf outing at Antioch Golf Course on Tuesday, July 8. Next in short order are Sheriff Gary Del Re's third annual outing at Antioch Golf Club and the first annual Tim Osmond Memorial at Shepherd's Crook Golf Course, Zion on July 27.

Democrats love the image projected when Republicans head for the country clubs.

Spinner deluxe

Catching his breath after pummeling bi-partisan efforts to enact new laws to curb secret deals at executive sessions, State Rep. Sidney Mathias (R-Buffalo Grove) is perfecting his pizza spinning techniques for a fall fund raising event Tuesday, Sept. 9, at Lou Malnati's Pizza, Buffalo Grove. This will be the fifth consecutive year for the pizza party aiding Mathias' campaign war chest. A majority of both Houses liked the verbatim provision to document closed door sessions as the governor's signature is awaited.

Mathias:

Krischke:

west growth.

Jakstas:

Holding the cards

Lake Zurich Mayor Jim Krischke expressed frustration at the changes being requested by sewer customer Hawthorn Woods in an intergovernmental agreement. Krischke has been acting as mediator between the Lake Zurich Village Board and Hawthorn Woods Mayor Keith Hunt and his village's requests. The southeast Lake County give-and-take has a third party, the Lake Zurich District 95 new elementary school site on Old McHenry Road. Lake Zurich trustees have balked at the changes requested, including adding parcels, demanding that Hawthorn Woods officials appear at a mid-June meeting to approve the agreement. Hawthorn Woods holds the cards, as Lake Zurich needs its permission to service the Old McHenry Road site.

Fireworks sputters

The Fox Lake-based Mineola Fireworks Committee says that a poor economy has caused it to scramble for funds for the July 5 fireworks celebration. The Village of Fox Lake and Fox Waterway Agency cut their support at a time that businesses cut sponsorship, said Pete Jakstas Sr., committee chairman. The committee needs to raise $40,000 for the event that attracts thousands to the Chain O'Lakes and is considered one of the best fireworks shows in Lakeland. A super raffle will be held June 21 at the Mineola Hotel. An account has been set up at Second Federal Savings and Loan in Fox Lake.

Working overtime

Newly elected Wauconda Trustee Sal Saccamanno has a new challenge. He is the new president of the Wauconda Lions Club. Saccamanno is vice president of plant operations at Henri Studio in Wauconda.

Banking loop-hole

Lake County based Ron Powell, head of the powerful Local 881 United Food and Commercial Workers International Union, is teaming with community banks to head off legislation that would enable companies like Wal-Mart to establish "industrial" banks that are exempt from federal banking laws. Powell is among business and union leaders who fear Wal-Mart dominating banking like it dominates retailing. Industrial bank foes are working families who oppose the loop-hole in Illinois law.

TV sitcom women smarter than men?

Editor's note: Jerry Pfarr is on vacation. This is a column he wrote in 2001.

Three of America's favorite television situation comedies have interesting things in common.

"Home Improvement," "Everybody Loves Raymond" and "The King of Queens" are about married couples with children, and the husbands are nice, decent guys.

But in all three sitcoms the wives obviously are smarter and more perceptive than their mates.

In "Home Improvement," which aired from 1991-1999 and is now in reruns, Tim Allen plays "Tim The Tool Man" Taylor and Patricia Richardson plays his wife, Jill. In each episode, the basis for much of the humor is her nimble wit, her put-downs and her efforts to keep klutzy Tim from trying to fix things around the house.

"You are so pathetic," she tells him. "I've been thinking," says Tim. "What was the occasion?" asks Jill. In another episode she says, "You know I have a job interview today. Don't you listen to me? It was the last thing I said in bed to you last night."

"As I recall," says Tim, "the last thing you said in bed to me last night was 'NO.'"

Jill smiles sweetly and says, "You're thinking of tonight."

In "Everybody Loves Raymond," stand-up comic Ray Romano plays Ray Barone, a sports writer and, like Tim Taylor, is a lovable loser.

His wife, Debra is played by Patricia Heaton, who won this year's Emmy for best actress in a comedy series.

In her acceptance speech she quipped, "I just want to thank God for thinking me up."

She also can thank the show's writers for giving her the clever lines that deflate her often befuddled husband.

In "The King of Queens," about a family in the New York borough of Queens, Kevin James plays Doug Heffernan, a UPS-type delivery man. His wife, Carrie is played by Leah Remini. Doug and Carrie's relationship reminds some critics of the "Honeymooners" skits of the 1950s and '60s starring Jackie Gleason as Ralph Kramden and Audrey Meadows as his wife, Alice.

I have heard two critics put down "The King of Queens" saying a sharp, attractive woman like Carrie wouldn't be married to a bozo like Doug. Nonsense, he's likable. And, as the famous Lady Astor said long ago, "I married beneath me. All women do."

While painstakingly researching this column (watching sitcoms on television) it occurred to me how differently women are portrayed now compared to the 1950s when Barbara Billingsley was June Cleaver in "Leave it to Beaver," and Jane Wyman was Margaret Anderson in "Father Knows Best."

Those ladies would never zap their husband's ego with a well-deserved zinger. Besides, back then most of the dads were portrayed as wise and reliable, and the actors, such as Hugh Beaumont and Robert Young, didn't come from the stand-up comic ranks.

Women's current roles in sitcoms merely reflect how real-life relationships have progressed. Fred Barron, creator of "Caroline in the City," says women are funnier than men and use words in a much more intelligent way. The trend was underway in the 1980s when "Cheers" was so popular. Remember?

Sam: "Diane, a thought just crossed my mind."

Diane: "A thought can't cross your mind, Sam. The bridge is out."

overnment employees who also work for Lake County and have given me help whenever it was requested.

And I absolutely cannot forget the generous citizens of our county and elsewhere who have responded to my announcement—students, clergy, individuals (some I remember and some I have never met); the media who have been mighty kind, in fact TOO kind, (so, you see, age does matter when you look like someone's grandma). Finally, a special thank you and a hug to my family and friends, who maybe never understood why I would want this job in the first place, but who have been the source of my strength and hope and taught me the meaning of love, every day.

In 1976, I accepted the offer never before given a woman, with the promise that I would do the job or die trying (no pun intended). I admit, there were days when I thought the latter might happen. Then, in 1982, when Mickey Babcox was elected sheriff, I was appointed to a job never before given a woman, with the promise that I would do everything in my power to make a difference in somebody's life, just ONE somebody's life. Perhaps, without realizing it, I was promising to fulfill this: "One must not always think so much about what one should do, but rather what one should be"—Aquinas. I always thought that I "should do" to others what I would want done unto me if I were in their situation.

And, right now, I "should be" saying "So long, it's been good to know you." No, it's been better than "good," it's been an awesome privilege to know you. YOU have made me the luckiest lady in Lake County. Thanks for the memories and the honor.

"For all that has been, thanks. For all that shall be—YES."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Trust the system

Iwould like to express my observations, as a neutral party, about the current dynamics surrounding Coach Bowen, the Grayslake Boys Basketball coach. I do not know Mr. Bowen to any significant degree, except for brief encounters and found him quite cordial. I do not have a child at Grayslake High School, although I will next year.

Most importantly, I do not have a child who has ever played for Coach Bowen, so I really can't speak to the allegations against him. I have observed Mr. Bowen coach a few games and have not observed any inappropriate conduct. I am also an IHSA basketball official, and although he is not exactly considered Mother Theresa to the officials, he does not have a reputation as being abusive to them.

What I do perceive, however, is a group of parents, apparently not even in the majority with the rest of the basketball parents, who are rejecting any plans regarding coach Bowen's future developed by the high school staff, the superintendent, the principal and the athletic director. These people are hired to handle these types of situations are very capable educators and administrators. I am quite confident the best interests of the children are utmost in their minds and we as a high school community should trust them and be flexible enough to give their decision or plan a chance.

Unfortunately, a group of parents want more. They want the school board and the press involved and unfortunately, they have drawn in the kids in too. Who will get involved next? You guessed it, the lawyers. During this whole publicly played out circus, Coach Bowen has been forced to sit quietly and endure very serious pot shots taken against him? I guess to prove "abuse" you have to be abusive. In the end, I hope the school board listens to its staff. They are the experts here. Let's at least all give them credit for that.

Pay to play

Recently, the Lake County Forest Preserve commissioners approved a plan for development of the Fort Sheridan Forest Preserve. The 259 acre Fort Sheridan Preserve, which includes Lake Michigan beachfront, bluffs, ravines, open space and golf course, was transferred to the Forest Preserve district by the U.S. Army 11 years ago.

Some of the discussion has been about the taxpayer dollars to be spent on the Ft. Sheridan golf course development. Forest Preserve golf courses are not operated with tax dollars. Construction of the Fort Sheridan course will be financed with loans to be repaid by the net cash flows generated from course revenues. After covering all costs of operations and repayment of the construction loan, the Fort Sheridan Golf Course will be an income producing asset for the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

The taxpayer dollars to be spent at Fort Sheridan will finance environmental restoration, trails and access, like any other Forest Preserve property. Whether you play golf or not (I do not), the Fort Sheridan Preserve will provide Lake County residents with access to trails and paths along Lake Michigan lakefront. Environmental restoration work at the preserve will include stormwater management integrated into the golf course design to divert water away from the ravines and bluffs, thereby protecting against costly future erosion.

We are fortunate to have received this valuable property from the Army. It is an environmental, educational, recreational and historical jewel available to all Lake residents, and the golf course will generate income that will offset other Forest Preserve costs and tax dollars in future years.

Matter of honor

The real issue at stake with the Fort Sheridan Master Plan is an issue of trust. Can other governmental agencies and the citizens of Lake County trust commitments made both contractually and by actions taken by the Lake County Board of Commissioners?

The Fort Sheridan Master Plan is no new proposal being snuck past sleeping commissioners. It has been an on-going process for 13 years and has involved Congress, the Army, the Joint Planning Commission, Highland Park, Highwood, Open Lands Commission, etc. The Lake County Forest Preserve District is contractually obligated to retain the Fort Sheridan golf course. The proposed restoration of ravines and natural areas will be very disruptive to the golf course and require a redevelopment of the course. Funds have been raised in three referendums 1993, 1999, and 2000. This is not new news.

When the Fort Sheridan Master Plan, including the funding plan, was approved in April, many commissioners cited the fact that the district was obligated to make good on its contractual obligations and promises to citizens as evidenced by its long standing support of and commitment to the project.

People may be for or against the district being in the golf course business. And perhaps that is a debate for the future. But right now it's an issue of standing up for honoring contracts, promises and expectations established over a 13-year period.

Geo-Karis greets president on his visit to Chicago

State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) was one of six people chosen to greet President George W. Bush when Air Force One landed in Chicago last week.

The president was in town to advocate limits on medical malpractice awards and discuss his plans for prescription drug coverage under Medicare.

"It was quite a privilege to be chosen for this honor, to meet the plane, and to personally welcome the President to our state," said Geo-Karis. "I had to get up pretty early in the morning, but it was well worth the effort.

"Not only did I have the opportunity to talk with President George W. Bush, but he remembered my name from our last meeting."

State treasurer Judy Baar Topinka recommended Geo-Karis to the White House for the honor. Members of the Illinois Congressional Delegation accompanied Bush on Air Force One for the speaking engagement and return trip to Washington.

Lauzen, who represents the 25th state senatorial district.

Bock, who founded the IHA last year and has already seen some measures of success, agreed.

"I hear horror stories of people who have to get a foot amputated because they can't afford medicine for their diabetes," Bock said. "All we want is to get the same price that's available to other countries."

But getting companies like Abbott and GlaxoSmithKline to keep the savings in the country is about as easy as getting a fish to ride a bicycle. "We ask them, 'Why don't you sell to us?'" Bock said. "They laugh at the question."

Not all medicines are available through the IHA's web site at www.illinoishealthalliance.com. No controlled substances will be allowed back across the U.S. border and prescriptions must only be a 90-day supply or less. But the site does have a searchable database of available prescription medications.

Although the money savings seem obvious, State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) raises safety issues.

"If it will help the people, I have no problem (with the IHA). But what if they get a bad batch of drugs?" Geo-Karis said. "Who would be held responsible? I feel we should err on the side of safety, it should be closely monitored."

Geo-Karis added that the state legislature just passed a bill that goes into effect Jan. 1 which will allow for cheaper medicines.

Bock said Canadian pharmacies would fill the prescriptions provided a great tone for the day, as many attendees found a comfy spot in the shade.

"The music was beautiful. It was just the perfect combination with the weather and age of all the seniors," said first-time participant Bernard Burnell of Antioch.

With an estimated 3,500 in attendance, friends were easy to come by. Trying to find someone by themselves was a difficult task, as many of the seniors came with large groups by bus, and those who came alone were quick to find a familiar face.

The day was perhaps summed up best by Bernice Meagher of Wauconda. "I don't even know how long I have been coming here, maybe 10-15 times now, and I figure I'll just keep coming back as long as I'm living."

Carmel High School's annual golf tournament has seen a growth in turnout over the past 11 years, causing the event to be moved to different locations more times than once.

Last year, the Carmel Golf Classic took place at the 27-hole Midlane Resort in Wadsworth. This year however, the event was moved to the 36-hole Countryside Golf Club in Mundelein, just a chip shot away from the school.

With the growth in popularity, the tournament needed a bigger venue.

"The size of the group has grown," said Carmel's special events coordinator Kevin Calcaterra. "We wanted to play on a longer course. It's much more convenient for the golfers."

Calcaterra was part of a committee that planned the event that helped raise nearly $15,000 for the athletic department at the Mundelein school. Up to 164 alumni, parents and friends joined together to take part in a day of fun, sun and golf.

The golf classic was part of the alumni week at Carmel, giving friends a chance to get together again. The longer course provided for that.

"In the past we would have to run flights," said George Rattin of Carmel's development office. "With that you had people golfing at different times than others and not everyone got to see each other."

A noon shotgun start kicked off the event, which was a golf scramble format that allowed everyone to golf at the same time. A dinner and awards ceremony followed. New to the festivities this year was a silent auction, which raised up to $5,000.

"People come from all over the country for the reunion and to golf," Rattin said. "It's a social atmosphere and we've received a lot of terrific feedback."

Contest and award winners included: Jean Pitzo for the $10,000 hole-in-one; Jon Murnik won a set of Ben Hogan irons for a hole-in-one; Sam Rinella for the men's straightest drive; and Cathy Buhner for the women's straightest drive.

Meanwhile, Kathy Nemmers and Jenn Guido won prizes for the women's longest drive, while Bob Krombach and Steve Dau shared top honors for the men's longest drive. Dawn Vaccaro won the women's closest to the pin contest, Dau and Joe Nemmers shared honors for the men's closest to the pin contest, Eileen Looby sank the women's longest putt, and Joe Nemmers Sr. and Kevin Quinn shared the top spot for men's longest putt.

Rinella was also victorious in the putting contest, while Dau, along with Greg Nebgen, Pat Kelroy and David Bacehowski achieved the lowest team score of 57.

Tournaments

AJGA Midwest Jr. Players Championship

The best of the best junior golfers will converge on Grand Geneva Spa and Resort in Lake Geneva Wisc. The week of July 1-3 for the AJGA Midwest Junior Players Championship. The event will feature 99 boys and girls ages 13-18 who hail from 25 states.

Among them will be Libertyville products Kevin Wall and Michael Schachner. Wall, who just graduated from Libertyville High, was one of the top players for the North Suburban and regional champion Cats last fall. He will be heading to Eastern Illinois University on a golf scholarship starting this fall.

Meanwhile, Schachner was another top player in the high school ranks last season as a junior. He most recently just missed qualifying for the U.S. Open, which just concluded at Olympia Fields down on the southside of Chicago.

Josh Esler, who just graduated from Wauconda High School, is another one to look out for in this star-studded field. Esler, a Polo Golf Junior All-America honorable mention, heads to the University of Arizona, where he will play for the Wildcats starting this fall.

Last year on the AJGA circuit, Esler had two top-five finishes, including a tie for third at the Pete and Alice Dye AJGA Classic, where he fired rounds of 77-73-72.

Joining Schachner, Esler and Wall will be Vernon Hills High senior Jon Fredbeck and Antioch High School junior-to-be Joe Kinney.

Both were North Suburban All-Conference players last fall. Kinney was also the medalist at the Zion-Benton regional, where he fired a 4-over-par 76.

The tournament will be 54 holes. For further information, please call Dave Buer at 877-373-2542 or visit the web site at www.ajga.org.

Outings

The Grayslake Football and Cheerleading Association's Annual Golf Outing will be held on Fri., June 27 at Renwood Golf Course in Round Lake.

Lunch and registration will start at 11:30 a.m. That will be followed by 18 holes of golf, and a steak dinner and open bar. Cash and prizes will be awarded for the lowest scoring foursome, closest to the pin and longest drive. There will also be a hole-in-one contest with the grand prize being a new car. The cost for the event is $100 per golfer, or $400 per foursome.

Bulls, White Sox camps heading to area

Quality instruction, as well as plenty of fun, awaits area youths as the Chicago Bulls Basketball Schools and Chicago White Sox baseball Training Centers will once again be hitting the area this summer.

ages 6-8 and Veteran camps for players between the ages of 9-14.

Cost for the camps is $195 and along with a week of quality instruction players will also receive at Bulls gym bag, basketball, T-shirt and reversible jersey.

Bulls Basketball Schools will be at the Libertyville Sports Complex on July 21, at Prairieview School in Grayslake July 28, and at the Health & Fitness Institute in Lindenhurst Aug. 11.

The White Sox Training Centers are week-long camps that teach the fundamentals of baseball to kids ages 7-14. Training Center 1 camps are for first time camp attendees, while the Training Center 2 camps are for players between the ages of 9-14. It should be noted that players ages 9-12 must have previously attended Training Center 1. There are fastpitch softball camps for girls ages 7-14 also being offered. The cost for the camps is $179 if you register one month prior to the opening day at your site, $189 thereafter.

'King' of Wisconsin at Wilmot set for June 28

The King of Wisconsin sprint car racing show will take place on Sat., June 28 at Local Motion Entertainment's Wilmot Speedway.

This year's event will highlight the first season with the new configuration of the one-third mile clay oval facility located on the Kenosha County Fairgrounds.

Called the Wayne Daun Memorial/King of Wisconsin Sprint Car Racing Challenge, the event is expected to feature a battle between the traveling stars of the Bumper-to-Bumper Interstates Racing Association (IRA) and the local winged warriors who compete weekly at Wilmot. The event is sponsored in part by CJW Distributing/Miller Beer and area Bumper-To-Bumper Auto Parts Stores.

The track has received a makeover after its past 50-plus years of operation. New clay has been added throughout, but more importantly, a new banking has been added to the first and second turn areas.

For the competitors who have been running at Wilmot weekly in the Saturday night 410 outlaw winged sprint car programs, they may have an advantage over the traveling stars.

Heading the list of Wilmot regulars ready to defend their turf and go for the bragging rights of the sprint car-driving crown is current point leader Rick Kelsey of West Allis. With two feature wins under his belt, the former go-kart and midget competitor, Kelsey is enjoying one of his best seasons ever. He is currently in his eighth season racing spring cars.

Not only is the track championship a distinct possibility, but also winning the biggest event in sprint car racing for southern Wisconsin could be a major boost to Kelsey and his team's efforts.

"It would be huge," said Kelsey of a hopeful victory in the King. "This would be the biggest win ever in my career. The win on June 14 at Wilmot was a big win for us, and if we could get the car working as good as it did on that night, it would be great. Beating the guys from the IRA at my home track would mean a lot."

"A lot of it has to do with set up," continued Kelsey on the track adjustments and new track configurations. "It's a lot different from what we were used to. They (the IRA) do go to different race tracks every weekend, and they're used to making adjustments, but it's probably different from any track they've run on. One turn banked and the other not, plus a little bit of a transition on the back straightaway has made it a little trickier. If the track can hold moisture, like June 14, and hold up to 50-60 cars running on it, the night should be real interesting. It would be a huge race to win or even run well in, especially since it's an IRA show, too."

Among those IRA competitors expected to be major challengers to the locals include current point leader and past IRA and Wilmot champion Kim Mock of Pleasant Prairie, eight-time IRA champion and past Wilmot champ Joe Roe of Pleasant Prairie. Roe won the first ever "King" series in 1997. Roe is currently second in IRA points. Mock holds the current one-lap qualifying track record of :13.585 seconds set back in April of 1996 on the old configuration. That earned Mock the present title of "fastest man in the history of Wilmot Speedway."

Defending and six-time Wilmot champion Dave Moulis of Johnsburg, Ill. has won the "King" crown twice in the past and is expected to be a hot contender again this year.

Todd Daun of Pleasant Prairie, who won the season opening feature at Wilmot on May 24 and took the "King" crown in 1999, has the added incentive of the night being named after his late father, Wayne, who passed away from a heart attack while accompanying Todd to a race.

Wilmot current top-10 winged warriors also expected to challenge for the crown include Jeff Ferkin of Pleasant Prairie and Tim Vanderveer of Beach Park, Illinois who won his first ever 410 outlaw winged sprint car feature on June 7 at Wilmot, and Tim's father, Larry Vanderveer.

Mike Dubs of Beach Park, Kevin Hinrich of Kenosha; the father-son team of Dennis and Kris Spitz, both of Pleasant Prairie; will be expected.

The Uttech family can have a reunion as brothers Dan and Jim Jr., both of Pleasant Prairie who have been running at Wilmot along with their Dad, Jim Sr. of Kenosha; are expected to be joined by their other brother(s), Scott Uttech of New Berlin, who is a regular with the IRA.

In addition to the full sprint car program including time trials, qualifying heat races, last chance "B" mains and the feature event, the evening will include the IMCA modifieds in a complete program as well.

Who will be the "King" of Wisconsin Sprint Car Racing for 2003? The crowning will take place in the Wilmot Speedway Victory Lane at the conclusion of the night's program.

Whoever the winner is, the "King" title is one that is well-deserved.

For the latest information contact the 24-hour trackside race line 262-862-2446, the track office 262-279-3892 or the official track web site www.wilmotspeedway.com.

Hair loss: Can we re-grow our hair?

Whoever said life is fair? I always wondered why we lose brain cells and we never lose our fat cells. Why is it that some people have full heads of hair their whole lives while others start losing their hair as early as in their teens? It's not just an affliction that affects men in typical male pattern baldness; there are lots of women who experience considerable hair loss, especially after their child bearing years.

There seem to be a multitude of reasons that dermatologists and other medical professionals, scientists and hair clinics believe cause hair loss. Although illness, hormonal imbalance, nervous disorders, toxic substances including chemotherapy, radiation, and just getting old can cause hair loss, there is universal agreement that the major factor that leads to baldness is heredity. Whether we have a full head of hair or not depends upon both our mother and our father. The specific genetic components responsible for hair loss can come from either the mother or father's side of the family, and is dependent upon hormones.

What happens in the case of heredity, and what biological and chemical factors are responsible, has very recently been identified. In men, the most common form of balding is male pattern hair loss resulting in a receding hairline and/or balding at the crown. This represents close to 95% of all hair loss cases and affects about half of all men by the age of 50. This natural hair loss in men is basically due to male hormones, collectively known as Androgens. The most relevant of these hormones with regard to hair loss is testosterone. If a man has inherited the necessary genes for hair loss, the hair follicle is affected by a by-product of testosterone called dihydro-testosterone (DHT). This occurs when the enzyme 5-alpha reductase converts testosterone to DHT, and is ultimately responsible for the progressive miniaturization of the hair follicle, and eventually permanent hair loss with the loss of the follicle.

ON CALL

Surprisingly enough, DHT is the major cause of hair loss in women as well. Both men and women make DHT. The resulting hair loss condition is known as Male/Female Pattern Hair Loss or Androgenetic Alopecia. Women are more fortunate than men, in that estrogen and progesterone protect the hair follicle from DHT's destructive effects. With age, or after menopause, with fluctuations in estrogen and progesterone levels, many women develop female pattern hair loss and thinning hair. Hair loss in premenopausal women may indicate a hormonal imbalance that requires medical investigation. In this case, with proper medical treatment, hair growth can usually be restored.

In the case of hair loss caused by DHT, with miniaturization of the hair follicles, over time, the miniaturized hair follicles actually atrophy and die, causing permanent baldness. Once the hair follicle dies, there is no recourse other than hair follicle implants surgically taken from some other part of the body.

So what about all those products we see advertised that are "guaranteed" to grow hair? Wanting to find out if they really work, I decided to call Bosley, one of the companies claiming to be the most experienced when it comes to the hair restoration practice. I spoke to Carol Kotrozo, public relations manager and media spokesman for the company.

I was rather impressed at how accommodating and informative she was. Of the currently available hair loss home treatments that can be divided into growth stimulants and DHT inhibitors, she highly recommended the products Minoxidil, which activates hair growth, and Propecia, an oral medication that inhibits the function of DHT.

Minoxidil, marketed as Rogaine, was the first hair loss treatment approved by the FDA in the United States. As a hair growth stimulant, it works on the hair follicles that have miniaturized. It actually forces the hair follicles to go into a growth phase. The drug, whose original purpose was to be used as an internal medication to treat severe blood pressure, was accidentally found to have the ability to reverse or slow down the balding process. Although Minoxidil is a vasodilator, how it actually causes thinning hair to become longer and thicker remains unknown.

What Minoxidil does not do is inhibit DHT production, and there are many experts who believe that since hair loss is a genetic predisposition, DHT will still continue to destroy the hair follicles. Propecia, on the other hand, the first approved pill to treat male pattern hair loss, works by inhibiting the 5-alpha-reductase enzyme that produces DHT. By reducing DHT production, Propecia's claim is that it prevents and eventually reverses hair loss.

Propecia, which may have minimal sexual side effects (decreased sex drive), is only available by prescription, and is not recommended for use by women. Minoxidil-Rogaine is available over the counter and is sold in different strengths for both men and women.

Known for its television commercials with before and after testimonials from people who have had "successful" hair transplants, Bosley claims to be on the cutting edge of future treatments to produce hair follicles in the laboratory. This would be used in cases where baldness is so severe that the donor area (the hair along the back and sides of the head) may not contain enough hair follicles to produce a cosmetically acceptable transplantation.

The next five years may generate some amazing new treatments. In the meanwhile, Bosley's advice for anyone wanting to treat a hair loss problem is to always go to a reputable company and beware of false promises.

If you have used products to reverse hair loss, I want to know about your experience. You can email me at my private email address, TheVFW@aol.com.

What do attention problems and broken arm have in common?

Hi Dr. Singer,

My 8 year old son started summer school. He had to take it because his school year this year was very bad because of attention problems. During the year, the teacher did some things to make sure he paid attention and is doing them this summer too. My problem is this: If she did these during the year and they didn't help, why would they help during summer school? I think we need to do something different. I was wondering if I could run them for your column and just get your read on what you think of them. If you can help me with knowing if these are right or wrong, at least I can know he is on the right or wrong track. Her suggestions are the following: move him in front of her desk and turn him away from all other possible distraction; make sure his work isn't too hard and is always broken down into small pieces so he can handle it; let him go do some other activity when he gets "fidgety" so he gets the energy out of his system. Thank you for any feedback. L.H.L.

Hi L.H.L.,

That plan sounds like a great way to take any kid who is distractible and make sure the distractibility stays there for life. What you have described is what I believe to be the mindset that has created the explosion in attention problems in kids. Without blaming the poor teacher because she is just doing what she has been taught, let me illustrate by using another example I give to my clients all the time. Let's say you break your left arm and you have to be in a cast for a long time. During that time, your right arm starts doing everything and you become pretty good at getting along without the left arm. Somewhere down the road, the Doctor says it's time for the cast to come off and he takes it off. Now you try to move the arm and it hurts pretty badly because it hasn't moved in quite some time. It's weak. How many Doctors do you think would tell you to not move it at all because it hurts and to make sure you set up your house and work area so everything can be reached by your right arm only so you don't have to stress out or use your left arm? There isn't a good Doctor on the planet who would tell you that. Any good Doctor

PARENT'S PLACE

would tell you that you should go to Physical Therapy to learn how to use it again so you can use both arms and have a normal life with use of both arms. A child's attention is exactly the same. If a child has a weak attention span, the exact wrong thing to do is to make the environment more limited so he has to spend the rest of his life in that type of limited environment because it's all he knows how to do. First of all, it is doubtful that any normal environment in life is going to make itself quiet and non-distracting enough to not distract a child and second, we all live in the real world and know that not everyone throughout the child's life is going to modify things to meet his distractibility weakness.

About giving him only easy work so as to keep him on track, again, I have to disagree. How far do you want him to go in school? What happens when the work has to get harder just by virtue of him getting older? You cannot keep giving him easy stuff so he doesn't go off-task. Same thing goes for letting him just get up to "walk it off." He is being taught that it is o.k. to just get up in class any time he wants to. The next teacher will not know that this was allowed and will tell you he has a serious attention or behavior problem because he is doing what is o.k. now. I have seen this too many times before. He also needs to learn to become responsible for his behavior and be able to control himself, even when he feels out of control. These things do not get learned from having free reign in a classroom to get up anytime you want to walk around.

With regard to all of these situations, it might be better for you to use the summer to train his attention and behavior and make those strong and powerful for him so he can deal with any environment and any work that comes his way without flinching or needing to "walk it off."

With all due respect to the teacher who is probably just trying to survive a difficult situation the best way she knows how, it is better to help that child learn to use his attention skills the right way, just like physical therapy for that left arm, rather than allowing those skills to atrophy or weaken from lack of use. Skills can atrophy just as easily as muscles do. If you don't use it, you lose it! So, make sure to get him "using it" in the right way.

She regularly works in person with many readers of this column, helping them to significantly improve their kid's attention, behavior, processing skills and self-esteem. HoopStar youth basketball programs show they belong Joree Green (right) of the Northern Lake County Lady HoopStar seventh-grade basketball team applies defensive pressure during a tournament in Kenosha. Sarah Boothe applies the trap while Kelly Dones goes in for the steal. The Lady HoopStars finished 2-3 in the tournament.

Lady HoopStars

Joree Green, who forced five turnovers and collected 12 steals, was named defensive player of the tournament. Sarah Boothe was named offensive player of the tournament after scoring 38 points and grabbing 25 offensive rebounds over the five games. Aggressive rebounding also saw Shana Shepherd finish with 20, Erin Claxton 15 and Lory Shaw 14. Kelly Dones and Erin Norwood each sparked the team by making key blocks to go along with numerous key rebounds. Tenacious defense by Rachel Culp and Haley Glynn resulted in four steals each, while Meghan Slack patrolled the paint area grabbing five more.

The Northern Lake County HoopStar program is a traveling basketball program for boy's and girls grades 4-8. They are based in Gurnee. The Lady HoopStars are in their second year as a team and compete at the seventh-grade level. They are coached by Paul Claxton, who is assisted by Joe Shepherd and Terry Culp. Taylor Furmanski had a team high eight assists and provided spark coming in off the bench. Poliquin, who totaled 27 rebounds and eight steals, was named the team's defensive player of the tournament.

Lynda Paul is the coach of the Mustangs, who will play their next tournament July 5-6, when they compete in the Fifth Annual AYBT Indy Shootout at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind.

WHEREAS, the State of Illinois has enacted the Prevailing Wage Act, approved June 26, 1941, as amended, being 820 ILCS 130/0.01 through 130/12 (the "Act"); and

WHEREAS, the Act requires that during the month of June of each calendar year the Board of Commissioners of the Round Lake Area Park District investigate and ascertain the prevailing rate of wages, as defined in said Act, in the "locality" of the Park District for laborers, mechanics and other performing construction of public works for the park district.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Commissioners of the Round Lake Area Park District, Lake County, Illinois, as follows:

SECTION 1: To the extent and as required by the Act, the general prevailing rate of wages in this locality for laborers, mechanics and other workers engaged in the construction of public works coming under the jurisdiction of the Park District is hereby ascertained to be the same as the prevailing rate of wages for construction work in Lake County as determined by the Department of Labor of the State of Illinois (the "Department") as of June 1, 2003, a copy of that determination being attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference. Village of Round Lake
Annual Water Quality Report
2003

Este informe contiene información muy importante. Taduscalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

This report will not be mailed to our residents.

Purpose

Each year the Village will issue a report of this type to provide information about the quality of our drinking water as well as details on the source of our water, how it is treated, and what it contains. The reports are being issued in compliance with the requirements of the Safe Drinking Water Act and are also intended to demonstrate the Village's commitment to providing a safe and reliable supply of drinking water for our residents.

Background

Since 1992 the Village has purchased water from the Central Lake County Joint Action Water Agency (CLCJAWA). CLCJAWA is an intergovernmental cooperative, formed by the communities it serves: Grayslake, Gurnee, Lake Bluff, Libertyville, Mundelein, Round Lake, Round Lake Beach, Round Lake Heights, Round Lake Park, and the County of Lake representing the unincorporated areas of Knollwood/Rondout and Wildwood and the Village of Vernon Hills.

The Water Treatment Process

All water in the Village of Round Lake comes from Lake Michigan. This surface water source is treated by CLCJAWA at the Paul M. Neal Water Treatment Facility in Lake Bluff. The water is pumped from Lake Michigan and then undergoes a treatment process designed to ensure constant contaminant removal and production of clean, safe drinking water that is also aesthetically pleasing. There are two features of the treatment process, which provide unique capabilities. First, water from Lake Michigan goes through a primary disinfecting step using ozone, which has been found to be highly effective in removing contaminants and in deactivating disease-causing pathogens. And, finally, the treated water passes through filters of granular activated carbon, which remove any remaining contaminants and particles from the water and has also proven to be proficient in eliminating problems sometimes encountered with unpleasant tastes or odors.

The Village's Delivery System

Once the treated water reaches Round Lake, it is handled in one of two ways. The water is either stored in our 500,000 gallon ground storage reservoir, located at our booster pump station on Nippersink Rd., or it can be pumped directly into the distribution system from our pump station located near the Village Hall on Cedar Lake Rd. The Village also has two 750,000 gallon elevated storage tanks (water towers). These water towers are filled as needed from either the Nippersink Rd. pump station or the Cedar Lake Rd. pump station. One tower is located on Wilson Rd. in the Valley Lakes subdivision, the other is located on Panther Dr. in the industrial park.

Water Quality

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the US Environmental Protection Agency's (USEPA) Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791. To ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the Environmental Protection Agency prescribes limits on the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) imposes fewer restrictions for contaminants in bottled water, which must provide the same protection for public health. Our tap water quality is consistently monitored by the village, by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA), in the CLCJAWA Water Quality Lab, and several other "third party" labs. This aggressive water quality assurance program is unmatched; bacteriological tests are conducted much more often than required, water clarity monitored every second, and over 360 contaminants are monitored on a routine basis. Water quality is judged by comparing our water to USEPA benchmarks for water quality. One such benchmark is called the Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG). The MCLG is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. This goal allows for a margin of safety. Another benchmark is the Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL). An MCL is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. An MCL is set as close to an MCLG as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

The water produced by CLCJAWA has never violated any water quality standard.

However, of the 360 contaminants monitored, minute quantities of some regulated compounds do exist. The table below lists all of the regulated compounds detected in our water, even in the most minute traces. The table lists the compound detected, the level found, the range of detection, the ideal goal for public health (MCLG), the highest level allowed by regulation (MCL), the last sample date for the year, any violations, and the sources of these compounds. The range of detection column specifies the minimum and maximum amounts of each compound detected. If the two numbers in the range of detection column are identical, there was only one sample analyzed during the year. Compounds listed in italics were measured by CLCJAWA, all other compounds were measured by the Village.

Abbreviations and what they mean:

(AL) Action Level is the level of lead that triggers special treatment or other required actions by a water supply

NTU Nephelometric Turbidity Units is a measure of water cloudiness.

pCi/L pico Curies per liter. The MCL for beta particles is 4 mrem/year. EPA considers 50 pCi/L to be a level of concern for beta particles.

positive/month means the number of water samples that contained coliform bacteria per month ppb parts per billion or micrograms per liter ppm parts per million or milligrams per liter

TT Treatment Technique refers to a required process intended to reduce a contaminant level in drinking water.

Lead and Copper:

There is no detectable lead or copper in the water the CLCJAWA provides to each community. Some homes with old lead service lines, lead plumbing, or lead solder, may have lead and copper in their water. To minimize this contamination, the Illinois EPA requires phosphate addition to our water in very low quantities of 0.3 ppm orthophosphate. This commonly used food ingredient coats the inside of your plumbing with a thin film. The film reduces the level of lead that may enter your water.

Sodium:

There is no state or federal MCL for sodium. Monitoring is required to provide information to consumers in case you are concerned about sodium intake due to dietary precautions. If the sodium level in our water was greater than 20 ppm, and you were on a sodium restricted diet, you would be advised to consult a physician.

Turbidity:

Turbidity is a measure of the cloudiness of water. CLCJAWA monitors it because it is a good indicator of water quality and the effectiveness of their filtration and disinfection systems. Turbidity is monitored every six seconds by instruments and every four hours in the lab.

Additional Contaminant Monitoring

Our system also monitors for substances in water for which no standards have been set or for contaminants for which we are not required to monitor. We take the initiative to check our water for things that concern the public and the scientific community.

In 1999, this additional testing included among numerous other things, asbestos. No asbestos was detected in the water entering the CLCJAWA water treatment plant.

Contamination Sources In Drinking Water

Our tap water comes from Lake Michigan, a surface water source. With a depth of 900 feet, Lake Michigan is the largest lake in the United States, formed as glaciers retreated north during the last ice age. The Great Lakes contain approximately 20% of the fresh water on Earth's surface. More water evaporates off of Lake Michigan each minute than CLCJAWA pumps in an entire day. Since the United States and Canada formed the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement in 1972, Great Lakes water quality has steadily improved. The Illinois EPA will complete a source water assessment of Lake Michigan by May 2003. As this information becomes available it will be incorporated in future Water Quality reports.

Both tap and bottled water come from rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring materials and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animal or human activity. Contaminants that may be present in untreated water include:

- Microbial contaminants such as viruses and bacteria can be naturally occurring or may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, and livestock operations.
- Inorganic contaminants such as salts and metals can be naturally occurring or result from urban storm water runoff, wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides come from sources such as agricultural and residential storm water runoff.
- Organic chemical contaminants including synthetic and volatile organic compounds are byproducts of industrial process and petroleum production but can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil, gas, and mining activities.

Immuno-Compromised Persons

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care provider. The USEPA and Center for Disease Control (CDC) guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the USEPA Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791

Public Meetings

The Round Lake Village Board meets on the first and third Monday of each month, and the public is always welcome to attend any of these meetings. Village Trustee Donald Newby is also a member of the Board of Directors of CLCJAWA, which meets on the fourth Wednesday of each month. CLCJAWA provides tours of the water treatment facility, and staff members are available for public speaking or for school visits. Please contact the Village or CLCJAWA for more information.
